

'Unleashed' Experts Favor Fluoridation

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

Every qualified expert in the provincial health department favors the fluoridation of water supplies as a preventive measure against tooth decay.

Loffmark Hint

Diesel Fumes Target

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark hinted broadly Friday that his department might crack down in future on buses and trucks that pour heavy diesel fumes into cities and along major highways in B.C.

The minister told a press conference that the government was concerned about possible health problems arising from vehicle exhaust fumes and now is "looking into the possibility of developing an alternative to the diesel combustion engine."

The greatest source of exhaust fumes are large trucks and buses, and it is in this area, Mr. Loffmark noted, there have recently been some "very interesting and apparently practical alternatives to engines using heavy diesel oil."

"We would like to see a different fuel used in these heavy vehicles which would reduce the amount of exhaust fumes," he said.

The minister said the experts also claim that running costs for trucks and buses can be reduced by using a new fuel. Asked how he would enforce any new regulations banning the use of diesel fuel, Mr. Loffmark said: "The department of health, as you must know by recent events, has very, very wide powers in this respect."

Bea

Promoter Of Unity Dies at 87

ROME (UPI) — Cardinal Augustin Bea, the Roman Catholic church's chief spokesman for Christian unity and a world renowned Bible scholar, died Friday. He was 87.

Bea was considered one of the major figures of modern Roman Catholicism. He was one of the late Pope John XXIII's closest collaborators in planning the Vatican's Ecumenical Council and in getting Protestant Orthodox and other non-Catholic churches to send observers to the historic gathering.

This disclosure came after Health Minister Ralph Loffmark announced Friday he was authorizing all technically qualified persons in his department to make public statements — "pro or con" — on the fluoridation issue.

Dr. Kenneth Benson, assistant provincial health officer and director of the bureau of local health services, said a recent meeting of medical health officers from all over B.C. voted unanimously in favor of fluoridation. There are 25 medical health officers in the province and all were present at the meeting held in Victoria.

DENTAL OFFICERS

In addition, Dr. Benson said, Dr. Frank McCombie, director of the division of preventive dentistry and all five of the province's regional dental consultants also support fluoridation.

Both Dr. Benson and deputy health minister Dr. J. A. Taylor said they personally favored fluoridation of water supplies. Dr. Benson added: "Nobody in the department to my knowledge has any doubts about it (fluoridation) from a professional standpoint."

Mr. Loffmark said earlier that he was asked to make a policy statement on the fluoridation issue. One request came from Vancouver where there is to be an area vote on the issue in December and others were received from various parts of the province.

Thieu Nearer Talks

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam said today the United States and South Vietnamese governments are working to resolve their differences over Saigon's participation in the Paris peace talks.

Sources had said earlier that Thieu might end his boycott of the talks if he got certain assurances from Washington.

"President Johnson and I are working," Thieu said. "The United States and Republic of Vietnam governments are working. Everything must be settled with composure and patience, and in an open-minded understanding spirit."

NEARLY READY

Thieu's comments were distributed by the Vietnam Press, the official government news agency, shortly after he was reported nearing readiness to re-entitled Washington guaranteed he would not have to form a coalition government with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The informants said there was a growing feeling among members of Thieu's government and members of the Senate and National Assembly that the South Vietnamese government must join the Paris negotiations eventually.

FIRST STAND

Any decision on the peace talks issue probably would follow a reshuffle of the cabinet. Informants said if a stronger cabinet is created, Thieu would feel more secure and might not feel it necessary that his delegation outbark that of the Viet Cong's South Vietnam National Liberation Front at Paris.

It was Thieu's refusal to meet the front as an equal that led to his boycott and forced the United States to postpone the opening of the expanded Paris talks Nov. 6.

Diplomatic sources said Washington is disposed to accept Thieu's wishes—he also has PARIS (AP) — France is expected to seek massive international support for the franc at a meeting of central governors in Switzerland this weekend.

The British pound sterling, meanwhile, plunged Friday to its lowest level in 10 months. Financial experts in London

Friday night expressed deepening concern that the world is on the verge of a new monetary crisis.

There were persistent reports in London that the franc would be devalued and the West German mark revalued upward. The franc is about five to $1 U.S. and the mark about four to $1.

Financial sources in Paris reporting the French plight Friday night said the French would ask at the monthly Basel meeting for additional credits amounting to at least $1,300,000,000.

That was the total of swap agreements made July 10 with the central banks of West Germany, Belgium, Italy, The Netherlands and the United States Federal Reserve and the Bank of International Settlements.

Though it was not known how deeply France had gone into the July loan, the feeling in financial circles was that support operations to protect the franc against speculation had eaten well into it.

Officially reported reserve losses, since the weakness of the franc developed in the May-June student and worker upheavals and their aftermath, now total some $2,600,000,000. That does not count any use of swap funds.

Gold and hard currency reserves were reported at $4,100,000,000 by the French Central Bank as of last week. In ordinary circumstances that would be enough to maintain confidence in French ability to hold the franc at its present parity.

But private investors were

Chretien with Indians Even Against Bennett

KELOWNA (CP) — Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien announced here Friday that his job is to support Indians in B.C. even if it means fighting Premier Bennett.

The minister listened to discussions between officials of his department and 27 spokesmen of southern Interior B.C. bands.

He spent an hour answering questions from the Indians and then settled down for the rest of the day to listen.

Asked if he would support the Indians in the event they had a legitimate claim against the province Mr. Chretien said "I have to support the Indians. That is my job and if it means fighting Premier Bennett, I will do so."

But he warned Indians that he cannot oppose the provinces when they are within their jurisdictions.

He said many problems with the present Indian Act, which will be replaced by 1970, are questions of legal interpretation of the constitution, not of legislation.

The minister told reporters that a resolution to establish an Indian Claims Commission had been put on the parliamentary order paper at the beginning of the week.

The commission will examine Indian land claims and pass on their validity.

Veins Connected in Operation

Tie with Chimp May Save Child's Life

ATLANTA (UPI) — Doctors linked the veins of a 3-year-old child with those of a chimpanzee Friday in a last-ditch effort to save her life and said cautiously that the operation may have helped.

Dr. Joseph Patterson, organizer of the team which performed the operation, said the unidentified child was still comatose after spending six hours linked to the chimp, but was "perhaps slightly improved."

The girl was fighting a losing battle against hepatitis, a virus infection that attacks the liver. The object of the operation, Patterson said, was to allow the chimp's liver to work for the girl, giving her own liver time to recover and fight against the infection.

After the link was severed and the girl's system restored to function on its own, Patterson said, the bilirubin level in her blood fell almost to normal, which he said indicated a properly functioning liver.

However, he said chances "are overwhelmingly against" the child's recovery.

Similar operations, using baboons rather than chimps, have been performed at the Medical College of Virginia and by Dr. Christian Barnard, the pioneer heart transplant specialist.

Patterson said all these cases were different and could not reasonably be lumped, but that the patients involved in the Virginia operations died, and Dr. Barnard's patient, a 29-year-old woman, recovered.

Patterson said that to the best of his knowledge, his operation was the first of its kind to utilize a chimpanzee,

No Viewing with Alarm

Russia Warned Against Thrust

BRUSSELS (AP)—The United States gave notice Friday that it believes any Soviet attack on Austria or independent Communist Yugoslavia would menace the whole 15-country North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Informants said NATO leaders at the ministerial meeting here were drafting a declaration that any new Communist thrust in Europe would meet something stronger than the Western viewing with alarm that followed the Warsaw pact invasion of Czechoslovakia Aug. 20.

CONTINGENCY PLANS

NATO strategists are working on contingency plans for defending certain countries considered candidates for possible Soviet attack, highly-qualified sources said. Such countries include Austria—not a NATO member—, the maverick Communist nations of Yugoslavia, Albania and Romania, they said.

One top informant said NATO would go to the aid of a victim of Soviet attack only if it received a request for help.

REMOTE PROSPECT

Others added that the prospect of going to the aid of a Warsaw pact member such as Romania or Albania, no matter how negligible its involvement in the Communist organization, was remote.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk was quoted as telling NATO foreign ministers that a Soviet thrust into Romania would spark an even greater crisis for Europe than the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

NOT RECALLED

Accounts of Rusk's speech were made known to correspondents by conference officials. The secretary's aides broadly confirmed what they called the passing references he made to Austria and Yugoslavia. They neither confirmed nor denied his remarks on Romania, explaining Rusk himself could not remember alluding to that independent-minded Communist country.

The NATO council of foreign ministers, beginning a two-day survey of world affairs and especially of European matters, was debating the implications of the Czechoslovak incident.

Chain of Warning Shy Many Links

LONDON (UPI)—The NATO plan to warn key men in case of an emergency broke down into "something of a fiasco" when the Soviet bloc invaded Czechoslovakia, a British official said Friday.

"I am told that when SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers Europe) set out to pass the order down its various chains of command, it found that key men in key places either were not on post, had been moved, had failed to notify their subordinates of changes in their situation, were on holiday or perhaps having a night off," Lord Wigg said.

Wigg, who directs Britain's civil service, told an army reserve regiment dinner that although something of a state of alert was achieved "it is said to have been late, spotty and much less than fully effective."

Wigg said NATO officials had decided some new form of alert system would have to be quickly evolved.

Liberal Berates Canada's NATO Decision

● Canada resentful over NATO pressure. Page 5.

BRUSSELS (CP) — The Canadian government's unburied reaction to the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia appeared Friday to have satisfied NATO colleagues, but not all members of Canada's own group at the NATO session in this Belgian capital.

While there appeared no disposition among partner countries to quibble at the Canadian decision to defer a reduction in the air division in West Germany, Liberal Senator Dan Laing of Toronto termed it "a weak response" to the Soviet-led move.

"I am disappointed," said Laing, member of a parliamentary group who earlier in the week had accused the Trudeau administration of equivocation to the point where Canada was being discredited among allies for under-reacting to the situation created by the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"Short-term commitments will be weak commitments,"

What Makes Ove Run for Office?

I WANTED to find out what makes Ove run. That's Ove Witt, health club proprietor and the run is for an aldermanic post in the Victoria December election.

The pungent mixture of steam, perspiration and amica hits you as you walk down the stairs into this sweat shop where overstuffed bodies waddle around. They wear the color of shocking pink and you can almost hear the groans from long dormant muscles recalled from the mothballs of inactivity.

IN THE MIDDLE of all the excess lard stands a block of a man dressed in white T-shirt, white pants and wearing white clogs. Ove Witt, a successful immigrant from Copenhagen, Denmark. His place is clean, clearly functional and obviously making money out of other people's obesity. My pre-visit snooping showed Witt owns a nice home, a good car and three handsome children to go with a pretty wife.

Yah, Ove Witt has it made, but it wasn't always thus and this, I believe, is the reason why he would just in the political arena of negligible financial reward and considerable public carping.

"I'M NOT a gilder or fisherman," Witt said. "So instead of sitting around wasting my spare time, I decided that as an immigrant who has been well treated here, I might be able to pay some of it back by running for alderman."

There is little trace of Danish accent in the Witt speech the learned English by sitting through interminable double bills in second-run movie houses) and he has acquired the polish of the successful businessman without the trappings of conceit. Bull sessions in the health club often got around to one point. Why don't younger people run for political office. Witt is 41.

"I TOOK them up on it and now I'll find out if people mean what they say."

The rise to success started back in 1951 when Witt hit here from Denmark. He kept body and soul together with any job offered and they ranged from swamper on a Coca Cola truck to manager of a cocktail lounge. In between he made dynamite over on James Island, worked as a steel construction laborer and slugged beer in a private club.

HIS FIRST big break — and no pun intended — came when he broke a leg on a construction job, ended up in hospital, fell in love with his nurse and married her. Now Witt decided he had to find a more permanent method of making a living. He spent yer in Toronto getting his diploma in massage and hydrotherapy. On his return to Victoria he borrowed money to equip three rooms in a hotel and was in the health club business.

The first four or five years were made up of the monthly struggle to keep the bank happy, but he's now turned the corner and the membership is full.

Victoria alderman get $25 a month for their efforts, nothing, you understand, to get rich on.

"IF I'M LUCKY I'd break even on it," Witt grins, "but the money isn't the point. I feel I can represent people, and that is the point."

A guy has to have a certain amount of public recognition to attempt a political run these days. Witt has some from his club. Some people will remember him as the coach of swimmer Bert Thomas, the first man to make it from Port Angeles to Victoria. Others will recall him as the therapist for the pro hockey Victoria Maple Leafs.

Then there was daily half-hour TV show on CHEK in 1962 when he presumably put viewers through their exercise routines. Sort of a male Bonnie Prudden.

He's a worker. That's what makes Ove run.

RECENTLY I suggested late TV watchers who didn't approve of nudity on CBC shows should write their complaints to MP David Anderson. Well, Anderson received quite a few and has already taken the matter up with CBC boss George Davidson. So, at least the CBC brass knows of your displeasure.

one get rid of planter's warts? One of our children is in misery with a lot of them on the bottom of his heel.—Mrs. D. M.L.

In blunt language, I don't know any home remedy for planter warts.

It is best for a person with them not to walk around the house unless wearing his own slippers. This is to prevent risk of spreading the wart virus to others.

Sooner or later the warts, like all warts, will disappear, but they often are painful enough so it is better to have them removed — and they may have to be removed more than once if a new crop appears. Have a podiatrist or your physician remove them. Various methods are used, including paring, cautery, and sometimes surface X-ray in persistent cases.

reported worsening the situation by trading francs for marks.

Early trading saw the pound fall to its lowest point in 10 months, $2.3830 at the official United States rate, then steady at $2.3740 in late dealings when the Bank of England apparently came to its support. Before Britain devalued its currency last November the pound was at $2.80.

The official U.S. exchange price of the British pound sterling now is about $2.50. When the price falls below that figure, the Bank of England buys up pounds in order to maintain the exchange rate.

Among major reasons for weakness in the pound, financial sources say, are Britain's poor October trade figures and a steady stream of rumors that the French franc is to be devalued while the West German mark is to be revalued upwards.

The reports apparently have led speculators to convert British and French currency holdings into gold and West German marks.

The price of gold was fixed in London Friday morning at $40 U.S. an ounce, up 10 cents from Thursday afternoon's fixing at $39.90. At the close it remained at $40.

The pound as a major international currency is extremely sensitive to disturbances in other currencies. Thus far the American dollar has not been reported under pressure as it was during the last major British monetary difficulty.

The franc has been under pressure, despite an increase in France's bank rate to six from five per cent.

The increased bank rate, the French hope, will attract investments to France. This would improve France's economic position and relieve pressure on the currency, which is eroding due to a wage-price spiral following the May-June riots.

Laid also said in a speech to the international parliamentary session after Defence Minister Cadieux had told the defence planning committee Thursday that Canada is putting off its planned 20-per-cent reduction in its air division in West Germany.

The air division decision was Canada's only move of any consequence brought on by the Czechoslovak invasion, the major reason for the calling of this session of NATO ministers.

It came belatedly, after a period of uncertainty as to whether Canada would move at all under pressure from allies to show increased force to the Soviet Union.

Mitchell Sharp, Canadian external affairs minister, told reporters Friday the Canadian decision on the air division appears to have been "acceptable" to the NATO allies after their previous disquiet over Canada's lack of urgency in showing a toughened front to the Soviet Union.

competence to make any recommendation without first consulting experts," he said. "This way the technical experts are free to give their views — pro or con — and it doesn't bind the department."

He added: "I think whenever there is an opportunity to do so, government should innovate and try new procedures. This affords an opportunity for the community to receive first-hand information from technically qualified people on a vital issue."

Mr. Lofmark refused to answer reporters' questions about his personal views on fluoridation, but he did say that his wife administers fluorides to their children.

Mr. Bennett said later he still personally favors fluoridation, adding that the measure has worked well in his hometown of Kelowna. "I think the people should vote decisively on it before it is brought in, because we don't want to force it on any community," he added.

The premier said he didn't regard Mr. Lofmark's move as a transfer of ministerial responsibility to civil servants.

"The policy of this government is to make it clear to the people that they have a right to express themselves, and we insist that there shall have to be a 60 per cent vote in favor."

NO FORCING

Recalling that last session Premier Bennett had said he personally favored fluoridation of water supplies, but would not force any community to adopt it as a public health measure, the minister added: "Health is a vital and personal concern and the public should have the opportunity to hear the whole range of qualified opinion on this question."

"This doesn't stop at the question of fluoridation. There are many other areas of concern including food preservatives and use of insecticides. If this new procedure works well and is accepted as part of the democratic process, I would be prepared to extend it to these other areas."

Mr. Lofmark said "the delay in the democratic process" did not lend themselves to use of a similar method of promoting public discussion on such questions as sewage treatment, because in that case there was always the danger of an epidemic if health authorities failed to act quickly and decisively.

Pressure Mounting On The Way It Is

By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The federal government, "like the CBC management," charges Maritime Conservative MP Robert McCleave, "has abdicated its responsibilities in national radio and television."

And into this "vacuum of authority," he warns, "the nuts, the loafs" are moving.

He bases his charge of "abdication of responsibilities" on the disclaimer in the Commons Thursday of Toronto Liberal Robert Stanbury, the parliamentary secretary to State Secretary Gerard Pelletier, of any judgment of the CBC Sunday night program The Way It Is.

McCleave, a noted former Maritime broadcaster, has sought information in the Commons on how the CBC permitted this controversial program to engage in "shocking anti-Americanism" two days before the U.S. presidential election.

Each time he has asked, his questions have been ignored. But determined to make an issue of it, he took up the matter in a speech Friday in the Commons — this time asking no questions, but instead making charges.

His accusations, he said, arose from the CBC televising what he termed "a cheap journalistic essay on film smearing the U.S."

He went on:

"It dealt with Black Power, with riots, with supposed police brutality. It showed a burning Buddhist monk; it dealt with marijuana and one scene showed naked hippies at a love-in. Some of it, as its producer Patrick Watson stated, was staged, but he did not indicate which portions were indeed so staged."

"I say of the show that its timing was poor. I say of this show that its theme was entirely one-sided and biased."

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation employees in Ottawa have told me that it was obviously put into the program by an anti-American clique in the CBC in Toronto.

"I say of the show, that its presentation was cheap journalism of the kind that would make the editors of Hush and Flash sit up and say: I wish we could get away with that, but the police and the postmaster-general would not let us."

"I also say that part of this show was a play for perverts who rejoice in sadism. I say that part of the show was for those who like irregular sexual practices and obscenity."

"I suppose that I will be met with some kind of argument to the effect: well, after all, we must have freedom of expression."

"I do not have the right in our free society to go forth into the town square and shout four-letter words."

"I do not have the right in our free society to throw ordure at another person."

"We have had experience in Parliament of dealing with the management of the CBC. We all recall the famed expressions of a former minister who said the CBC had 'rotten management.' We have had the Seven Days hearings. We have had hearings ad infinitum and ad nauseam in the time I have been in Parliament and before. Yet no cure has been effected."

"It is still obvious that there is no direct link between upper management and management at the level which would put this sort of trash on a television program. There is no effective management on the top."

"Who are these people who planted that journalistic essay in the program? Obviously, they include some in 'important places at decision-making levels whose moral outlook is depraved and whose entire outlook is one of anarchy and nihilism. no wonder the editor of the Saint John Times-Globe wrote of this incident concerning The Way It Is under the title The Way It Shouldn't Be."

Stanbury, speaking for Pelletier who "reports" for the CBC to Parliament, stressed that the publicly-owned corporation had "the right and responsibility of producing its own programs free of government interference."

The only check on it, he said, was that run by the newly-organized Canadian Radio and Television Commission.

"Comments" on The Way It Is, he conceded, had been "received by the commission."

Speaking for himself, and presumably for the government since he is one of the cabinet's parliamentary secretaries, he concluded:

"I offer no judgment on the merits of the program" — and then invited MPs and "other interested" to address themselves not to the administration but to its new regulatory commission and the CBC.

Over NATO Pressure

Canada Resentful

From CP

The government's resentment of pressure from Britain and the U.S. to maintain or increase Canadian military strength in Europe came into the open Friday in the Commons.

Prime Minister Trudeau branded as "not correct" a statement by British Defence Secretary Denis Healey that all NATO allies except France and Iceland agreed at Brussels this week to increase defence contributions to the alliance. Iceland has no armed forces.

Trudeau also denied a statement by a NATO spokesman that Canada has made a new commitment of four new helicopter-carrying destroyers to NATO. He said the commitment is an old one made by the previous Pearson government.

Contracts for the destroyers were let in April to two Quebec shipyards.

Trudeau tossed out a hint that the contracts may be cancelled when he said:

"... We are not going to decide to cut back on those orders until we decide it is necessary, if that is the case, as a result of our review of foreign and defence policy."

The prime minister said at another point:

"We can withdraw from NATO during the course of 1969 if we so decide, and the ships which have been committed to NATO, as in the case of the ground troops or the air troops, will follow the policy decision which is then made."

The Conservatives were not satisfied.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield said the government has two policies — one for NATO and one for home consumption.

"It is a Janus policy," said former prime minister John Diefenbaker.

Stanfield asked about Healey's statement that all NATO members except France and Iceland had promised to make substantial increases in defence commitments to the alliance.

"No, that is not correct," Trudeau said crisply. He did not elaborate.

Trudeau also disclosed that the government, after meeting all opposition parties, will provide new funds for special research staffs for the party leaders.

Fisheries Minister Jack Davis made two announcements—he predicted the Federal Fisheries Act will be tightened to permit greater control over water pollution, but not this year, and said he will never approve any new coastal international limit that excludes Queen Charlotte Sound from Canadian territorial waters.

Red Turtles Altered By Lunar Radiation

From UPI

The Russians say they have rocketed several forms of life around the moon and back and some of the specimens had undergone major bodily changes.

The announcement said the lunar probe Zond 5 carried turtles, wine flies and various plant life on its single loop around the moon last month. All the specimens survived the 500,000-mile trip but the turtles incurred alterations in their internal organs.

Just last week Soviet scientists had expressed concern at a possible radiation hazard in the neighborhood of the moon. They said then no cosmonauts would fly to the moon until scientists had learned more about such dangers.

As the news of Zond 5's delicate cargo was given, Zond 6 hurtled back toward earth with what could be a similar life package. Zond 6, an unmanned ship reportedly able to hold several specimens, is due to land or splash down about noon Sunday.

Russia said that, "during the experiment, the turtles lost about 10 per cent of their body weight," and the tissue in their spleens and livers underwent changes of unstated nature.

While NDP Picks Leader?

Mock Election Horror Expressed by Bennett

Premier Bennett threw up his hands in mock horror Friday when it was suggested he might call a spring election next year while the New Democratic Party was engaged in picking a new leader.

"I would never think of a thing like that," the premier said. "They can create their own havoc."

Pressed for a further statement on the possibility of an election in the next few months, Mr. Bennett said at the moment he was thinking there would be "no spring election."

Asked what he felt about Opposition Leader Strachan's statement that the NDP needed a new young leader because it would win the next election and remain in power for 20 years, Mr. Bennett replied:

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast. My friend, the present premier is the youngest of all in ideas and policies. It's how young you are above the chin that counts. If you have dynamic ideas and policies, experience is not a detriment—it is a great advantage."

Mr. Bennett also disclosed that from Ottawa, where he attended a federal-provincial finance ministers conference, he went to New York for talks with Wall Street financiers and then spent five days vacationing in Miami.

He was invited to New York, and was accompanied by B.C. Hydro executive vice-president Einar Gunderson on the U.S. leg of his trip, to answer questions about the provincial economy. He said the sessions with financiers were "very friendly."

The premier was also asked what B.C. would do if Ottawa pulls out, as Prime Minister Trudeau says it will in five years, from medicare?

"As long as Social Credit stays in power, no, as long as I'm premier of this province—put it that way—medicare will stay," Mr. Bennett said.

Berger Looks at Stiff NDP Task:

From One Third to Majority

Tom Berger, the 35-year-old Vancouver lawyer who is making his second bid for leadership of the provincial NDP, said here Friday his party should not choose a new leader "just because he's young."

By the same token, Mr. Berger said, "I don't believe we can argue that Premier Bennett should retire because he is 68. I think what is important is (a leader's) capacity for creative politics."

He added: "I believe in the next provincial general election the people of British Columbia will opt for creative politics and reject the old politics that Mr. Bennett has stood for."

"In our party whoever is chosen leader next April must be capable of leading the NDP into office and governing this province through the 1970s."

Over the years, Mr. Berger said, the NDP has generally held a solid one-third of the popular vote. It is the job of the party under new leadership to lay out the goals of a socialist government for the province "and persuade the majority of people to support it."

"We must make an electoral breakthrough and that's why I think (Opposition leader Robert) Bob Strachan felt the party should have a new leader at this juncture."

Mr. Berger said he will give up his law practice to take the message of socialism to every region of B.C. if he becomes leader, not through regular channels of voter communication but also through universities, the most remote rural communities and Indian villages.

Among new policy ideas he will offer during the campaign, Mr. Berger said, were several proposals designed to kill "the myth abroad that a socialist administration means miles of red tape." He would favor an "open file" system for government covering all welfare cases and such things as liquor licence applications—terming this "the greatest single step" toward bringing bureaucracy under control.

Czechs Debate Policy

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist rulers engaged in a full-scale policy debate Friday in speeches before their central committee. As hard-line orthodox members attacked the policies of Party Chief Alexander Dubcek, others demanding to know who invited the Soviets and their allies to invade the country.

Broadcasts by Radio Prague Friday gave the first glimpses to the outside world of the struggle going on in the meeting, which began Thursday.

This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board or by the Government of British Columbia.

The session was called after the Aug. 20 invasion to determine national goals and priorities under foreign occupation.

Frantisek Pavicek, manager of Prague's Vinohrady Theatre, demanded to know which members of the central committee or government had appealed to the Soviet Union for assistance "including armed force assistance."

The Soviet Union at first said the invasion was in response to an appeal for help.

The broadcast quoted a Dubcek foe, Jan Pelnar, who became minister of the interior 11 days after the Soviets invaded, as criticizing Dubcek's leadership for lacking "political courage" to root out anti-Soviet forces.

TARGET UNSTATED

Prague has been the scene recently of several anti-Soviet demonstrations and flag burnings.

Pelnar said that after last January, when Dubcek took power and began his liberalization drive, there was an "intentional, organized procedure to weaken and to disintegrate the security forces."

Drahomir Kolder, another conservative and hard-liner who was accused by some Czechoslovaks of being willing to collaborate with the occupying Soviet troops, was also quoted as making personal criticism of some of the reform programs. But the broadcast did not say whom he criticized.

The Dubcek policies were defended by Antonin Hrotek. He attacked the orthodox hard-liners by saying they had no understanding of the popular mood and opinion of the Czechoslovak people. He expressed confidence in Dubcek and other members of the party's ruling presidium.

About three dozen committee members have spoken in the first two days of the session and more than 100 others are scheduled to speak.

The broadcast excerpts contained no indication of the final committee decision.

Foreign Policy

Nixon, LBJ End Cordiality Game

From UPI

Aides to President-Elect Richard Nixon acted Friday to relieve President Johnson's apparent irritation over an impression that Nixon's agreement would be necessary for foreign policy decisions in the post two months.

The aides said Nixon's legislative assistant Bryce Harlow telephoned Johnson Thursday and again Friday to explain Nixon's announcement Thursday that he would be consulted by Johnson administration officials on foreign policy decisions.

ANY ACTIONS

The aides said Johnson was concerned Nixon's statement had been construed as meaning Nixon was supposed to approve any presidential actions in the next 60 days.

Johnson, meanwhile, emphatically declared he would make the nation's foreign policy decisions until he relinquishes power to Nixon Jan. 20.

LBJ WORD

Apparently irritated by Nixon's statement of "prior consultation" between Nixon and Johnson on the administration's foreign policy decisions, the president said:

"Of course, the decisions that will be made between now and Jan. 20 will be made by this

Major Changes Likely

Poland's Communists Elect New Politburo

WARSAW (UPI) — Leaders of Poland's Communist party under first secretary Wladyslaw Gomulka met Friday to elect a new central committee and politburo. Informal party sources said major changes were expected.

Gomulka was said to be virtually assured of retaining the top post in an overhaul designed to enlarge the 83-member committee and oust officials who came under criticism in the party and government purge which followed student riots last spring.

The Polish news agency Pap said the ballot commission would work through the night to count the votes. It said the delegates voted for the new central committee after "fruitful and vivid discussion."

Twenty-four members of the outgoing central committee were not chosen as delegates to the party congress now under way, a fact which makes their chances of re-election slim.

Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz said increased active participation of the working class in party work would "help to make the struggle against bureaucracy, ossification, complacency and conceit in various organs of the state and economic administration more effective and systematic."

How to save and improve your hair demonstrated by expert here Mon. & Tues.

FOR BALDING HEADS LIKE THESE, a "SAVE-YOUR-HAIR DAY" has been announced. As long as you have some hair, you have an excellent chance to grow thicker hair by new methods of home treatment.

SCALP SPECIALIST HERE TO DEMONSTRATE NEW HOME TREATMENT

New home treatment methods for preventing baldness—and growing thicker hair—will be demonstrated in Victoria this Monday and Tuesday, November 18 and 19.

This news was released here today by Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists.

In their announcement, they named staff trichologist Mr. Ian Edgar to conduct the Victoria clinic. Mr. Edgar will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the hotel Executive House.

EXAMINE YOU

"I want to make it clear that you incur no obligation by seeing Mr. Edgar."

"Your only obligation is to yourself—to free your mind of worries about hair loss, dandruff, itching, or other scalp disorders, by learning how to take care of your hair. If your trouble is beyond the scope of Harrison Home Treatment, we will frankly tell you so."

"We always make a personal examination before suggesting any treatment. There is no one cure-all that will correct every one of the 18 scalp disorders that cause most baldness."

WHO CAN BE HELPED?

Will this new treatment cure baldness? "No. We cannot help men who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But where your scalp still grows hair, we can at least save and improve what you have. Usually, we can grow more hair even where you have only 'fuzz' now."

The important thing is: Don't wait until it's too late!

Best evidence of the success of Harrison treatment is the phenomenal growth behind it. Harrison trichologists hold clinics in all major cities across Canada.

"Our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim to do. But to overcome the average man's initial skepticism is sometimes difficult. He's usually quite desperate—and baldish—by the time he comes to see a Harrison trichologist. He's 'tried everything.' So he starts consulting himself with one of the old superstitions about hair."

That baldness is hereditary; that men naturally lose hair as they get along in years; that nothing can be done to stop hair loss—and a lot of other notions that we know are not true today."

SCALP EXAMINATION

See Mr. Edgar in person. Learn how baldness can be corrected, and new hair grown. The new Harrison method permits you to actually correct your baldness and improve your hair in the privacy of your own home.

For an examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the hotel Executive House, Monday or Tuesday between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. for Mr. Edgar's suite number.

You don't need an appointment. Examinations are given in private.

South Africa Condemned, 95 to 1

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The special political committee of the United Nations Friday overwhelmingly passed another resolution condemning South African apartheid policies and called on the Security Council to meet to consider sanctions against the country.

The committee rejected a United States bid to eliminate the section of the 47-power resolution calling for sanctions.

Canada, while condemning apartheid in clear terms, abstained from the vote and questioned whether sanctions are practicable.

PORTUGAL AGAINST — The vote was 95 in favor and one, Portugal, against. There were 15 abstentions and Mexico, angered about a procedural matter, refused to participate.

South Africa had not participated in the debate and was absent from the vote.

ONLY UN BODY — The abstentions included the United States, France, Britain and Japan.

The resolution, whose sponsors were almost entirely Afro-Asian, received the support of the entire Communist bloc with the exception of Cuba, which said it was not strong enough and abstained.

It says that the Security Council has not met on apartheid since 1964. The council is the only organ in the UN that can impose sanctions.

It asked the council to resume "urgent consideration of the question of apartheid with a view to adopting . . . effective measures to ensure full implementation of comprehensive mandatory sanctions of South Africa."

It also condemned the "actions of those states, particularly the main trading partners of South Africa, and the activities of those foreign financial and other interests, all of which through their political, economic and military collaboration with the government of South Africa . . . are encouraging that government to persist in its racial policies."

MORE PUBLICITY — The resolution also condemns the "persecution" of opponents of apartheid, requests increased worldwide publicity of South Africa's apartheid policies and asks suspension of cultural, educational and sports exchanges with South Africa.

Gordon Cox of Canada said Canada has expressed opposition "to racial discrimination wherever it exists and it will continue to do so."

"While the situation in southern Africa may at some time endanger international peace and security, it appears to us doubtful that the (UN) Charter provisions with regard to threats to the peace are applicable in the present circumstances." Canada reserved its position on that matter.

NOT AT THIS TIME — Nor was Canada persuaded that the application of comprehensive mandatory sanctions is practicable, "at this present time."

Canada had clearly shown its opposition to the provision of arms which would be used to further apartheid.

Sir Leslie Glass of Britain said in explanation of the British abstention that draft resolutions that are regularly put before the United Nations "are so framed as to make it impossible for some delegations to support them, however deeply they share the feelings of the committee on the issue of apartheid."

He said that "however abhorrent the situation in South Africa," there was no justification for Security Council action.

Britain is one of the main trading partners of South Africa.

The United States explanation of its stand was that the resolution would commit governments to actions in the Security Council even before a meeting of the council was held.

The General Assembly immediately continued its consideration of the 16-power resolution calling for the expulsion of the Nationalist Chinese regime and replacing it with the Communist regime of Peking.

The assembly has heard 35 speakers and had 35 others to hear from. The vote now is not expected to be held until Thursday.

Hillcrest Lumber Co. from a year ago," said Munro.
Of the firms offering payroll facilities, 37 companies topped the previous year's total.

COPPER HOPES RISE

Early deep drilling results from Bethlehem Copper on its claims adjoining the Valley Copper property have been described by the company as "encouraging."

No. 4 hole gave an average of 57 per cent copper over 1,256 feet, after drilling through 280 feet of overburden. The final 65 feet averaged 65 per cent copper, indicating ore improvement at depth.

No. 5 hole was declared marginal with 120 feet of .52 per cent and 330 feet of .444 per cent copper. No. 6 hole has just been started and No. 7 is in mineralization after 230 feet of overburden.

LOW GRADES

The Bethlehem mineralization is believed to be an extension of the Valley Copper orebody which has indicated a heavy tonnage of low-grade copper.

P. M. Reynolds, president of Bethlehem, says he expects his company's net earnings in the year ending Feb. 28 will be about 3 per cent from a year ago despite higher taxes, which had been offset by increased production and good selling prices for copper concentrates.

He said the company would continue to pay its increased quarterly dividend of 12 1/2 cents next month, but a further dividend increase should not be expected for at least another year.

FUND ASSETS INTACT

Investigation into the affairs of the 35 companies in the Commonwealth Trust Group is continuing, and the expert team of accountants is being suggested, according to A. D. Peter Stanley of McDonald Currie, the chartered accounting firm acting as manager-trustee. Here and there, however, there are glimmers of hope for persons with financial interests in the various companies.

A surprise audit taken Wednesday of the affairs of Diversified Income Securities indicated that all the assets of that company's A and B mutual funds are intact, and that as a temporary measure operations of these two funds would be undertaken by the Canadian Mutual Funds Association.

Mr. Stanley also authorized Centennial Mortgage Co., another of the group under his management, to pay a regular quarterly dividend of three cents to its shareholders next month.

PIPE PROFITS SLUMP

Heavy costs involved in the company's $37,000,000 pipeline expansion program caused Westcoast Transmission's net earnings for the six-month period to Sept. 30 to drop sharply from a year ago.

The net profit of $609,000 (nine cents) was down from $3,770,000 (56 cents) despite an increase in gas sales revenues. Frank McMahon, chairman, said the decline was temporary and the second half should be a good one.

One investment house said that while a dip in Westcoast profits had been anticipated, the decline was much more severe than had been expected. After the news, Westcoast Transmission shares dipped $2 to $29 on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

TAX HITS NICKEL

International Nickel of Canada's earnings for the first nine months of 1968 are running ahead of a year ago — $104,911,000 ($1.41) against $99,138,000 ($1.33) — but the third quarter was not as good as the corresponding period a year ago.

The company, in an interim report to shareholders, said the drop to $31,268,000 (42 cents) from $32,077,000 (43 cents) was due to increased production costs and higher tax liabilities. The higher taxes resulted from the expiration of the three-year "new mines" tax exemption for certain of its Canadian mines, and from tax surcharges imposed recently in Canada and the U.S.

Backyard Oil Less Than Bonanza

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Imagine the delight of Bernard Weinsieder and his family when oil bubbled up through a crack in their backyard patio a few weeks ago.

Weinsieder's son Jules, 22, said: "We thought we had it made."
But so far it has cost more than $3,000, wrecked the family patio, driven some neighbors away, and landed them in court.

The family followed the seepage to a storage cellar where they found a pool of crude oil. It turned out this came from a well drilled in 1911 and abandoned in 1924.

The first sign of disaster came when they called refineries to find out how much the oil was worth.

"They all said they were committed to certain companies, that we were independent operators and they couldn't buy from us," said Richard Weinsieder, a 17-year-old son.

A petroleum geologist checked the well and said he doubted whether it would ever pay for attempts to make it productive again.

Weinsieder, the elder, a bread salesman, had to pay $2 a barrel to have the cellar pumped out and 150 barrels of oil trucked away.

Then as the oil kept coming, the family paid $2,500 to a drilling company to dig a hole in the yard and find the well. A tenant moved out because of oil odors and gurgling sounds, a neighbor filed suit because her tenant also moved out, chunks of the patio broke loose because of underground pressures and the Weinsieders learned it would cost them $20,000 to cap the well properly.

The family also found out that the well was drilled and deserted by Associated Oil Co., which later became part of the Getty Oil Co. They hired a lawyer who filed a $75,000 negligence suit against the company.

"The oil company reaped the benefits from the oil well years ago," said Jerome Benoit, the lawyer. "Why should the Weinsieder family, who purchased the home only two years ago, now have to suffer from the oil company's negligence?"

A Getty oil spokesman said: "We were the corporate predecessor involved in that portion of the old Salt Lake Oil Field, but we've no interest in the field for 44 years."

Wheat Sale First In Months

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prairie farmers got their first good news in months Friday when a 56,000,000-bushel sale of low-grade wheat worth about $108,000,000 was announced by the Canadian wheat board and in the Commons.

The buyer was China which has a long-term contract to take a minimum of 168,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in the three-year period ending July 31, 1969. As in previous sales, payment terms are 25 per cent cash and the balance in 18 months with interest.

It brings the total Chinese purchases under the agreement to 225,000,000 bushels; 45,000,000 bushels short of the maximum written into the contract.

CRITICAL TIME

G. H. Sellers, president of federal Grain Co., said the sale came at a time when Prairie farmers are facing one of the most critical periods in many years.

"The 34-per-cent reduction in wheat sales last year left farmers with one of the largest carryovers in grain in Canadian history. To aggravate this problem, about 80 per cent of this year's crop is grading either tough or damp and cannot be stored without risk of damage."

A week ago, Canada had exported 32,500,000 bushels of wheat since the crop year started Aug. 1 compared with 69,100,000 bushels in the same period a year ago.

Saskatchewan Hopes Rise As Temperature Tumbles

REGINA (CP) — Brisk winds and light snow have been forecast for today's first game in the Western Football Conference final, conditions that would tend to tip the scales in favor of Saskatchewan Roughriders.

If the public forecaster is correct—his predictions also call for temperatures just above the freezing mark—the weather will be more conducive to Saskatchewan's balanced attack than to Calgary Stampede's pass-oriented offense.

The word from the weather office for the 3 p.m. EST kickoff is for southeast winds at 20 to 25 miles an hour and temperatures in the 32- to 35-degree range.

The forecaster expects blustery conditions to develop, but not before the game is over.

Roughriders can fall back on a powerful running thrust if wind and snow hamper passing proficiency. Stampede, on the other hand, have had problems on the ground all season.

Calgary averaged 82 yards a game during the regular season.

Today's game will be telecast over Channels 2 and 6 starting at noon Victoria time.

and managed to boost the total to 180 yards with a newly-developed "T" formation in the sudden-death semi-final last Sunday, in which they beat Edmonton Eskimos, 29-13.

General manager Rogers Leheew feels the ground effort against Edmonton proves Stampede have finally fashioned the balanced offense experts insist they need to capture the WFC championship for the first time since 1949.

But Saskatchewan coach Eagle Keys doesn't consider the Calgary rushing, spearheaded by rookie halfback Dave Cranmer, a serious threat.

After watching the semi-final, Keys noted: "They ran pretty well, but when they needed yardage, they went back to the pass."

So Roughriders will concentrate on Peter Liske and his flock of receivers—Herm Harrison, Terry Evanshen, Bob McCarthy and Gerry Shaw.

PROVED A POINT

Liske passed for more than 1,000 yards against Saskatchewan in three regular-season games, including a single-game WFC record of 533, but Stampede still managed only one victory.

But in the clubs' final encounter of the regular campaign, Saskatchewan had Liske and company under complete control, permitting just 155 yards through the air in banging out a 19-15 decision.

Roughriders led the WFC in rushing with 2,590 yards. Fullback George Reed is the big gun, with 1,222 yards and 16 touchdowns, but Silas McKinnie and Al Ford are also available. McKinnie pilled up 639 yards and Ford 295.

Montreal Asked To Set Bid Back

VANCOUVER (CP) — A tour of officials said Thursday a majority of directors of the International Olympic Committee are in favor of awarding either the 1976 Summer or Winter Olympics to Canada.

However, Frank Bernard, president of the Vancouver tour bureau, said Montreal's bid for the Summer Olympics was a "big stumbling block" to efforts by the Garibaldi Olympic Development Association's proposal to hold the Winter Olympics at Whistler Mountain, about 70 miles from Vancouver.

Mr. Bernard, who recently returned from talks with Olympic officials, suggested that Montreal withdraw its bid because the federal government will have to subsidize the Games heavily and Montreal had already had federal assistance for Expo '67.

He suggested Montreal apply for the 1980 Summer Olympics instead of the 1976 Games.

A Vancouver delegation will leave for Ottawa Sunday to present the government with detailed cost figures for developing the Garibaldi area as an Olympic site.

Gold Trail To Lose Rich Mine

NEW YORK (AP) — The $150,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic will not be held in 1969, said sponsors of the seven-year-old tournament.

The tournament, played last year at the Upper Meridian, N.J., Country Club, in Clifton, N.J., was the first to provide purses totalling $100,000 for the pros in 1962.

Robert J. Murphy, president of the Newark District For Dealers Advertising Association, which has sponsored the tournament, cited increased costs as the reason for the temporary discontinuance.

The Thunderbird was networked television during its first five years, but there was no network TV showing of the competition in 1967 and 1968.

The purses were increased to $150,000 in 1968 and the winner's share increased to $30,000 from $25,000.

CALGARY (CP) — Signing of flanker Bob McCarthy has left Calgary Stampede of the Western Football Conference with only one player who is playing out his option.

McCarthy, who caught 58 passes and scored seven touchdowns this season, came to terms just before Stampede's last game of the WFC final.

Still unsigned and apparently planning to play in one of the U.S. leagues next season is quarterback Pete Liske.

Bo Scott Set to Leave Ottawa Club

OTTAWA (CP)—Fullback Bo Scott of Ottawa Rough Riders is playing his last season in the Canadian Football League.

The burly Scott, who, with halfback Vic Washington, is expected to lead a fearsome ground attack against Toronto Argonauts in the Eastern Conference finals beginning Sunday in Toronto, hasn't come to terms with Riders this season and is believed bound for Cleveland of the National Football League in 1969.

Ottawa general manager Red O'Quinn said Thursday he believes Scott won't be around these parts next year. He said highly-placed football friends in the U.S. have given him that impression.

But Scott himself isn't talking about his future plans.

"I'd rather not discuss this thing publicly," he said. "Whether I'll be in the National league next year depends on a lot of things."

Scott, second in the EFC rushing this season despite an injury which kept him out of a few games, is reported to have turned down a salary increase from Riders.

O'Quinn says he doesn't expect to have another contract talk with Scott until the playoffs are over.

"But if his position on salary is changed in any way, we can get together in a hurry," he said.

Scott, 25, stands six-foot-three and weighs 210 pounds. He was an Eastern all-star in his three full years with Ottawa and was the rushing leader in 1967.

This season he carried the ball 137 times and gained 811 yards and scored six touchdowns. In Ottawa's last game against Toronto, he piled up 123 yards on 16 cracks at the line.

Travel Officials Eye Big Tourist Market

Representatives of a tour service which could bring as many as 7,000 visitors annually to Victoria were in the city Friday making contacts.

Robert Junell of Roberts Northwest Tours of Seattle said the operation would begin in 1969 and his company hopes to bring people to this district from all over Canada, the United States and Europe.

And, reciprocally, people from the Pacific Northwest would be able to make arrangements to go on guided tours to national and international points.

With Mr. Junell on his visit to Victoria were four girl tour coordinators, one each from Japan, Seattle, Calgary and Vancouver. It will be their jobs to make all the "nuts and bolts" arrangements for tours to and from and passing through their areas.

Accused Plotter Out on Bail

Arab Loves America

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of three Yemeni Arabs accused of plotting to kill President-Elect Richard Nixon was released from jail on $25,000 bond Friday and tearfully told newsmen: "I'm innocent — I love America."

Ahmed Rageh Namer, 43, spoke in halting English as he met reporters in the office of his Brooklyn lawyer.

"I didn't have nothing to do against the United States," he said, fighting to control his tears. "I live over here and I'm happy in this country. How then am I going to do something like that?"

Namer and his sons Hussein, 20, and Abdo, 18, are charged with conspiracy in the first degree, criminal solicitation, and possession of deadly weapons.

Police were led to the apartment by an informant who was later identified as Mohammed Algamal, 36, a native of Yemen and a longtime friend of the Namers. Acting Brooklyn District Attorney Elliott Golden Friday defended his case against the Namers and contradicted a report in the New York Times which quoted him as saying doubts were developing about the informant.

Namer broke down and cried during the news conference and had to be led into another room by his lawyer Joseph Iovine. Namer had just been released from the Brooklyn house of detention where he had been held since his arrest. Cash amounting to $780 and additional collateral were put up by what Iovine described as "friends and neighbors" to meet the $25,000 bail. Namer's sons were unable to raise the bail and remained in jail.

The Times said Algamal had lived with the Namers since his arrival here four months ago but that he had been thrown out by them because he refused to do his share in keeping the apartment tidy.

The daily said Algamal had previously lived in San Francisco but left there after accruing a police record including assault with a deadly

Jordanian Charged With Nixon Threat

DETROIT (UPI) — Federal agents Friday charged Jordanian immigrant Sufian Naura, 18, with threatening the life of Richard Nixon. They said two co-workers heard Naura make statements last Tuesday and added there is no connection with the kill-Nixon plot in New York.

Vancouver Man's Defence $30,000

Innocent of Murder, Still Bitter

VANCOUVER (CP) — A former Vancouver resident who was accused of murdering a Canadian woman in California has learned a California postman has confessed to the crime.

William Blakeman, 25, now living in Edmonton, said, "I used to think that justice was justice and nothing could go wrong. Now I know how much can go wrong."

Mr. Blakeman was accused March 6, 1967 of the murder of secretary Gloria Dawn Collins, 27, of Port Moody.

He stood trial in Santa Ana, Calif., for the murder of Miss Collins at a party in Fullerton, Calif.

After spending 5½ months in jail and $30,000 to defend himself, he was acquitted Aug. 26, 1967.

The Santa Ana Register said California postman Lester Arnold Coley, 29, confessed to Mr. Blakeman's lawyer, John Bond of the Orange county public defender's office that he had killed Miss Collins. Coley has been in jail since Nov. 5, when he was indicted in another murder.

The Register said the confession was verified by what it called a "high source" in the public defender's office.

Mr. Blakeman was also mentioned in connection with the Feb. 10, 1967 stabbing of 25-year-old Cecelia Wood and 20-year-old Charles Frank Cornell in Seattle.

On June 18, James Thompson, 28, turned himself in to authorities. He was later acquitted by reason of insanity of charges of first degree burglary and first degree assault.

Mr. Blakeman said he was happy with the developments in Santa Ana and in Seattle but that his happiness was tinged with some bitterness.

"There's a certain amount of bitterness but who do you blame? Do you blame society? It's just stupid to get mad at society," he said.

He said that as a result of the cost of his fight in the courts, he and his family are in debt. Part of the $30,000 was obtained by selling his mother's house in Vancouver.

Law-Enforcing Quintet Finds Trouble in U.S.

From UPI, AP

The long arm of the law caught up with five policemen in three U.S. cities Friday.

● In Washington, District of Columbia Mayor Walter Washington condemned the "lawless" use of firearms in the fatal shooting of a Negro plainclothes policeman by two fellow white officers who mistook him for a robbery suspect.

Police said six shots were fired at Pvt. Willie Ivory, 25, from the guns of Sgt. Edward Spindler, 38, and Sgt. James Gannon, 25. One bullet struck Ivory in the forehead and he died Friday, 11½ hours after the incident. The two officers were placed on administrative leave pending an investigation.

● In Chicago, former policeman Richard Nuccio, 27, was sentenced to 14 to 15 years in prison Friday on a charge of murdering Ronald Nelson, 19, who was fleeing from him in an alley.

Nuccio, who left the force after his arrest, became the first to be convicted of murder while on police duty in Chicago since 1952.

● In Miami, Fla., a $4,500 settlement was gained from the city by Negro Robert Owens, 17, who was dangled by his heels from a bridge by two policemen.

The white policemen, dismissed from the force, pleaded guilty in federal court to violating Owens' civil rights. Both officers were placed on probation.

'Nice' Convicts Hold Family at Gunpoint

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — A family of three was held captive at gunpoint for more than 11 hours Thursday night and early Friday by a pair of escaped convicts described as "extremely dangerous."

They said their captors were "so-called" and "nice."

Patrick Kane, 52, and Dale Gleason Wilson, 31, were hunted by local, state and federal authorities after leaving in the family's car.

The two escaped from a deputy U.S. marshal and a private guard Thursday night — using a handoff key one had hidden in his nose — while a car carrying the men was speeding along a highway toward St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Polite and their son, Ronnie, 13, held captive in their home by the convicts, said Kane and Wilson were nice to us and we cooperated. We watched television and listened to the radio and talked about everything. That Kane is the best talker you ever saw.

Polite, a gas station operator, said he and his wife had an extended conversation with Kane on religion and Kane told them, "I don't believe in anything, any more. I'm all mixed up."

Ronnie said Wilson told him, "Always go straight, never commit a crime. Don't be like me."

UBC Issues New Cards After Extensive Forgery

Drillers Saved

(ROMER, England (AP) — The British trawler Easton Hornet Friday rescued the 33 men on a natural gas drilling platform after it exploded when high seas swept a supply boat into its gas lines.

The trawler also saved the skipper and five others aboard the supply boat, but two of its crew are missing and feared dead.

VANCOUVER (CP) — New student identification cards have been issued by the University of B.C. following reports of mass forgery of cards issued earlier.

Arnie Myers, UBC information director, said Friday that police have been asked to investigate at the request of the attorney-general's department. He said the department was notified by UBC president Dr. Kenneth Hare.

Among uses to which forged cards are said by campus sources to have been put are:

- Border identification for U.S. draft dodgers entering Canada.
- Stealing books from UBC libraries.
- Convincing police the holder is a legitimate student and not a vagrant.
- Cashing forged cheques.

One campus source estimated there are about 1,200 forged cards in circulation.

Cost of issuing 20,000 new cards of a different style and color, which are effective Monday, is estimated at $5,000.

The student newspaper, the Ubyssey, says in an editorial "the card caper is a good idea botched."

It suggests it started as an assist to U.S. draft dodgers trying to cross into Canada—"a humane and worthwhile service to American youths."

"Some will inevitably cry about the morality of abusing trust, stealing cards, etc., but we see nothing wrong in our helping American youth, by any means necessary, to escape their oppression."

Two Liquor Curbs Placed on Heiress

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Palm Beach socialite Nancy Wakeham, 47, was sentenced Friday to five years on probation and had restrictions placed on her social drinking after being convicted of shooting her husband.

Judge Russell McIntosh told the heiress she may not entertain large parties at her home if she serves liquor and, for the duration of the probationary period, she may not enter any establishment where liquor is the primary item sold.

SOCIAL AGENCY Mrs. Wakeham must also devote 20 hours a week to working with a social service agency.

The heiress to a tractor fortune was convicted of aggravated assault in the shooting of her husband William, 44, in the bedroom of their seaside home in September, 1967. The bullet struck near his spine, paralyzing him from the waist down.

Quebec Haul Summonses Issued Over Liquor

QUEBEC (CP) — Transport D'Anjou Inc., whose president is Union Nationale MLA Adélard D'Anjou, and secretary-treasurer Guy Marinier of Melchers Distilleries Ltd. Friday were summoned to appear in court Nov. 21 on charges of violating the Quebec Liquor Board Act.

The summonses arise from the seizure in a Quebec suburb last weekend of more than 9,500 bottles of liquor.

PENDING HEARING They were issued after five people, including four employees of Melchers Distilleries of Berthierville, Que., were formally charged with conspiracy in the illicit transport of liquor. They were released on $500 bail each pending a hearing Nov. 22.

The action came as Premier Bertrand said the government has widened a police and ministerial inquiry into alleged illicit commerce of liquor during the Quebec Liquor Board strike, which began June 26.

Submarine Here Soon

Grilse Replaced By Later Model

Maritime Command Pacific is getting another submarine and will man the new Rainbow. HMCS Grilse is going back home to the U.S. Navy. The defence department has bought the USS Argonaut, a Tench-class submarine, from the U.S. Navy and will use it as a training vessel out of Esquimalt, sailing under the name Rainbow. It will replace the Balao-class submarine Grilse, formerly the USS Burrfish, which has been on loan since 1961. Retirement of several fleet class submarines by the U.S. Navy made it possible for the Canadian government to buy the Argonaut for about $150,000, according to an armed forces release.

Officers and crew of the Grilse will man the new Rainbow. Monday they will fly to Norfolk, Va., where the submarine will be commissioned into the Canadian Armed Forces.

The original Rainbow, a cruiser, was the first ship to be commissioned into the newly-established Royal Canadian Navy in 1910. She served out of Esquimalt.

The Tench-class is an improved version of the Balao-class, with greater endurance and more modern equipment. The new submarine will provide better anti-submarine warfare training for ships and aircraft.

Grinning Pair Remanded On Gun Counts

Two young men who were grinning when they made separate court appearances Friday have been remanded to Monday as the result of a cabaret fracas that involved a gun and a springknife.

Bail was set at $1,000 for Richard Paul Howard, 21, of no fixed address, who is charged with possession of a revolver, having a firearm in a place other than his home or office, and assaulting Clifford Bates at A.J.'s, a night club at Fort and Wharf.

The incident occurred early Thursday. Gerald Raymond Harvey, 20, of Vancouver, was remanded to the same date on charges of assaulting A.J.'s manager Tony

Tenders Opened By UVic

Farmer Construction Ltd. was low bidder Friday for a contract to build a new residence college for the University of Victoria.

Hot Lunches for Shut-Ins

Meals on Wheels in Oak Bay

By NANCY BROWN

There will be hot meals for 20 Oak Bay shut-ins if 24 drivers can spare a few hours once a month.

Oak Bay Catholic Women's League is organizing a meals on wheels project to serve needy residents at noon three days a week.

"We feel there are many individuals and organizations who would want to be involved in this, rather than it just be confined to our own members," said one of the organizers, Mrs. Theresa Green, 950 Joan Crescent.

It is planned to start the service with two volunteers in private cars each distributing ten meals.

"If we could get 24 drivers, this would mean they would only need to drive once a month," said Mrs. Green.

"This wouldn't be too great a burden for anyone. It would also give us people to fall back on if someone was sick."

Meals consisting of meat, vegetables and dessert lunches will be prepared in the Goodwill kitchens and packed in styrofoam boxes. They will cost customers 60 cents each. Mrs. Green said she would like to hear from family doctors and private citizens if they know of elderly or disabled people who are unable to get their own midday meal.

"We'll start out on a modest scale, and perhaps expand if needed," she said.

At a recent meeting of the Metropolitan Health Board attention was drawn to the plight of some elderly citizens, subsisting, it was said on bread and margarine and the odd uncooked wiener.

Senior medical health officer, Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread said he had had many requests from Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Victoria and other areas for expansion of the meals on wheels service.

It was decided to ask the Community Welfare Council to study possibilities of providing more meals on wheels.

Saanich Ald. Edith Gunning welcomed the Oak Bay project.

She helped launch that service in Saanich some three years ago, when she was Saanich health and welfare committee chairman.

"It's meant that a lot of people have been able to stay in their own homes instead of going into institutions," she said.

Mrs. Gunning added that the service has expanded greatly under this year's chairman, Ald. William Noel.

The Saanich meals are also prepared in the Goodwill kitchens.

She Knows Them All

Hundreds Wish Teacher Best on 80th

By CLEMENT CHAPPEL

More than 300 people wished Mrs. Maie Doig a happy 80th birthday Friday night and every one of them knows her well.

At the James Bay Athletic centre the hall was crowded with 100 well-wishers. Shaking their hands, Mrs. Doig, 2255 Allenby, gave each one a knowing look.

For who knows a grown-up school kid better than his teacher?

Mrs. Doig, who taught Grade 9 from the early 1920s till after the Second World War, scanned a telegram bearing another 276 names and said: "I remember them all."

It was a proud group of graduates from Winnipeg's

Cecil Rhodes school who attended the party.

Most of them now live in Victoria but some came from the Prairies to watch her cut a vast cake with the words in pink icing: "Happy birthday Mrs. Doig on your 80th."

CFO Bill Shaw, who organized the party, explained that her pupils were not the only ones in Winnipeg who remembered her. "She's the only woman to hold the freedom of the city award, presented by Mayor Steven Juba."

Her coming to the school was the start of an era at Cecil Rhodes," said George Madden. "I feel sorry for people who didn't go there."

"One of the worst things that happened to the Winnipeg school system was when Mrs. Doig left," he added.

When it was her turn to speak, Mrs. Doig was moved to apologize for her classroom strictness. Mr. Madden had called it "leadership... she had the backing of all the kids."

"There were so many people that I didn't treat very kindly," Mrs. Doig replied. "But I guess we have all learned to forget and forgive."

All Hopefuls Meeting In Oak Bay

Oak Bay's municipal and school candidates will meet on the platform in Oak Bay municipal hall at 8 p.m. Dec. 4 at an all-candidates meeting.

Candidates will be contesting three seats on council currently held by Ald. J. D. Watts, Alex Hendry and I. M. Horne.

Dr. Carron Jameson, who has completed six years as Oak Bay's representative on Greater Victoria school board, will be up for re-election.

The meeting will be sponsored by the Oak Bay division of the Association of Women Electors, Oak Bay Ratepayers, and the Oak Bay Board of Trade.

Stephen Fears $40,000 Gap

Civic Character Shown By How Appeal Fares

Victoria Mayor Hugh Stephen made a direct appeal Friday for support of the United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal.

Appeal chairman R. B. Hutchison announced Thursday that this year's campaign was in danger of ending up $40,000 short of its $855,000 goal.

Mayor Stephen said such a possibility "in one which all responsible citizens will view with utter dismay."

"If there exists any one test of a community's true character and conscience," he said, "it will surely be found in its annual response to the United Appeal."

"GOD FORBID" Failure to meet this test, he added, "would brand us, before all of Canada, as a people lacking in those human virtues which respond impulsively and generously to the needs of our less fortunate fellow men and women."

"God forbid we should be found lacking in answering that simple challenge."

In other Canadian cities the United Appeal has chalked up a record level of giving. Donations this week were up more than $2,500,000 over the same time in 1967, and 12 communities had over-subscribed their campaigns.

In making a direct appeal to citizens of Greater Victoria, Mayor Stephen suggested that persons who were in a position to give and had not been called on, mail their donations to 1951 Cook Street or phone the Community Chest at 385-6708 to have them picked up.

He also suggested that some, who had refused to give, reconsider.

By DESMOND BILL

A last-minute effort by Mayor Hugh Stephen and Ald. Robert Baird to have downtown Victoria decorated for Christmas appeared doomed Friday.

It is "just too late" to do anything about the decorations, said a Victoria Chamber of Commerce spokesman.

Council was told Thursday that lack of support from city businessmen had forced the chamber to abandon its long-time practice of setting up lights and Christmas trees on downtown streets.

HARD TO BELIEVE Ald. Baird, Victoria's finance committee chairman, said it was "hard to believe" businessmen would not put up the money for the decorations.

He offered to try to have the city's grant for decorations upped from $1,500 to $2,000 and Mayor Stephen supported him in the move.

Lloyd Davies, chairman of the chamber's retail merchants group, said cost of decorations this year was estimated at $5,600.

He said that even with a city grant of $2,000 and the approximate $1,000 already pledged by merchants, the chamber would be faced with a $2,600 deficit for the decorations.

"The chamber could not pick up the tab," said Mr. Davies.

In any case, he said, "We have already passed the point of no return. There would not be enough time at this stage to order the trees, repaint the tubes and fix up the lights."

Ald. Baird said he will continue his efforts to get the program going again this year.

"There is no excuse for businessmen not supporting it. The atmosphere created by the decorations has a lot to do with evoking the spirit of the season," he said.

Five for Alderman

Entry Ensures Election in City

An election for aldermen in the city of Victoria was assured Friday with the entry of a fifth candidate for the four vacant seats on council.

Harold C. Olafson, a 45-year-old businessman, will be making his first try for public office.

He has been co-chairman of the Red Cross drive, a director of the Community Welfare Council, a group captain of the United Appeal and a worker in the St. Joseph's Hospital fund-raising campaign.

Mr. Olafson, who is married and has three children, was born in Winnipeg and came to Victoria to live eight years ago.

He was a pilot in the RCAF during the Second World War and won the Distinguished Flying Cross for service over fire in Burma. Since coming to the city he has formed several businesses, including the London Omnibus Tours.

Olafson

Candidates Invisible In Saanich

With only 5% days left for nominations for Saanich council and for Saanich representation on school boards No. 61 and 63, there are still no nominations.

Nominations close at noon Nov. 25, Saanich Municipal Clerk Gordon Hayward said Friday.

"The nominations will probably come in next week," Mr. Hayward said.

Four seats on council are coming up for election as well as two Saanich seats on District No. 61 and one on No. 63 school boards.

PERSONAL MENTION

By Dorothy Wrotnowski

Victorians turned out by the hundreds to give a warm welcome at the opening Thursday of D'Alaird's new store.

"It was really wonderful," says Joan Riome, store manager. "Many of those people have been coming to the store for 40 years. They feel sort of responsible and I guess they are — we wouldn't be here if it wasn't for their support."

The actual move was made on the 13th — no one had time to be superstitious, Joan says, and she's Irish. The new location is only three doors east of the former premises in the 700 block Yates.

"The whole move was so simple — we all just carried loads and loads down the street. The new place had all been vacuumed and polished so all we had to do was put the clothes in their proper place."

The new store is where Bapco Paint used to be. It has been completely rebuilt inside and is on three levels, shallow steps separating the different departments.

Gold, green and sunshiny yellows are the colors used for wall and floor coverings which give a bright, cheerful look. Crystal chandeliers shed soft light overall, and right now, the many baskets of flowers from neighboring merchants make the place look festive.

Feature Pleases Staff

I mentioned that word festive too soon. I should have waited to describe the decorated Christmas tree standing in the centre of the store.

Another feature that pleases the staff is the back door opening into a courtyard. The next few months will see great changes in this courtyard, which is part of the Mid-Town Mall. It will be enlarged, have a tile floor, shrubs and flowers and benches. Two show windows of D'Alaird's face the courtyard.

One of the amusing and sweet things that happened on the day of the opening was a visit from an elderly gentleman dressed in the style of at least 50 or 60 years ago. He announced to Joan Riome, "I always support these enterprises. There is only one thing wrong — you should have an organ so that there could be soft music in the background. Something to touch the heart." Joan says he was really a darling.

Most-often-heard comment during the opening was from the women who said, "I like buying here because you never see the same dress in any other store."

This, of course, is true as D'Alaird's makes 90 per cent of its clothes sold in 30 stores in a Montreal factory.

E. C. Wright, general sales manager, L. R. Poulin, general credit manager, and H. R. Schneider, assistant credit manager, who were here for the opening, left Friday evening en route to head office in Montreal.

Dinner Held in Village

Norfolk House School Old Girls' Association held a dinner and annual meeting at the Chinese Village on Friday evening.

Hilary Spicer, past president, chaired the meeting in the absence of president Susan Alexander.

Miss Winnifred Scott, headmistress of Norfolk House, was among the special guests.

Mrs. David Barlow, Mrs. J. Bayliss, Miss Margo Heisterman and Hilary Spicer were dinner conveners.

The John McRae have invited about 50 people to a wine and cheese party at their home at Ardmore next Saturday.

Many Give with a Smile

She's a busy woman, with a family to look after and is taking time out of her daily routine and giving it to the canvassing job. She says some people treat her as if she's collecting money for herself and give her a snarly "No." Others, well-dressed and obviously affluent, announce with a sneer, "I don't give to the Community Chest," as if it were something to be proud of.

But most Victorians are very considerate, she said. Some of them even asked her in for a cup of tea. And many a citizen, obviously not well-to-do, has had the money waiting for the canvasser and gives it with a smile.

"All in all," she said, "it's a rewarding experience. The pleasant welcomes by far outnumber the snubs."

There were several parties given for Mrs. Henrietta Pollard prior to her leaving for England this week.

Mrs. Pollard, who has lived in Victoria for 44 years, is returning to England to make her future home in Torquay, Devon.

Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Pollard, live at Telegraph Bay and another son, Maurice, lives in San Francisco.

QUEBEC (CP) — The president of the Association Laconaire — a group which opposes the drinking of alcoholic beverages — announced membership had fallen from 160,000 to 80,000 in the past ten years. Dr. Joseph Charland told a meeting of the association "strong social pressures in favor of alcohol" could be blamed for the decline.

A Lovelier You

Posture, Health Hurt by Slump

By MARY SUE MILLER

Are you a slumper? Slumping happens to be the most prevalent posture fault among both girls and women. And it leads to the most unattractive consequences.

To name just a few: crooked neck, protruding chin, jutting head, drooping bosom, and sloping shoulders. Even more serious is the way slumping hampers one's breathing and circulation.

It's a wise lovely who checks her posture in a full-length mirror from time to time. In making a check, the profile view is the one to analyze. An important point to bear in mind is that some slumpers are able to stand fairly erect when they try but they cannot hold the position for long.

To maintain an erect stance without effort, an habitual slumper has to strengthen her back and shoulder muscles. The following routine, repeated 10 times daily, not only tones up the muscles but helps to establish good carriage:

Sit on the floor with your back against a wall and arms stretched forward at shoulder level. Leading with your head, slowly curl your spine until hands touch ankles. Then uncurl, inch by inch, so that your back lies flat against the wall and your chin parallels the floor.

Now note your shoulder position — how it is neither backward nor forward of the body. Carry it over into your stance, and your figure and posture will grow lovelier.

Toastmistresses Given Parliamentary Lesson

A lesson in parliamentary procedure was conducted by Mrs. C. C. Warren at the semi-monthly meeting of Victoria Toastmistress Club No. 90.

Miss C. Baird was inducted as a new member by Mrs. H. Davis, vice-president.

Looking Through a Window was the title of Miss Baird's speech. Miss H. Schroeder chose The Spacious Days of Summer as the title for her speech.

Mrs. E. J. Brady won the oscar for her originality in introducing the topic mistress. Mrs. J. R. Pipes was moderator and panelists were Mrs. J. Friessen, Mrs. Pleasance, Mrs. A. B. Campbell.

Guests were Mrs. F. Hong, former member; Mrs. J. J. Wiant, Mrs. E. Guenette.

Mia Farrow Stars

Producer Fined

LONDON (CP) — Film producer Iain Quarrier Friday was found guilty of obstructing a police officer after a colorful day-long trial with actress Mia Farrow as a star witness.

Quarrier, 27, who denied the charge, was fined $26 plus costs as a result of a pre-dawn fracas in a hotel restaurant following a nightclubbing session with the former wife of

Frank Sinatra and other showpeople. "It's a lie," shouted Miss Farrow when the verdict was announced. Earlier as she entered the tiny Bow Street magistrate's courtroom, she swept her black topcoat off, handed it to a policeman and asked: "Can I take my clothes off?"

Later she squatted on the courtroom floor until an attendant advised her to take a regular seat among the spectators and witnesses who included Detroit Negro model Donyale Luna, Quarrier's girl friend. Quarrier maintained he and his four companions were booted out of the Cavendish Hotel restaurant in London's West End because of Miss Luna's presence.

A hotel witness, Ngeborg Skoczek, denied color discrimination and said the group was noisy and used bad language.

Police Inspector John Perrett, one of four police officers called by the hotel management, said Miss Farrow swore and clawed at police trying to detain Quarrier.

He was arrested after he was ejected from the hotel and tried to get back in. Perrett said he had the impression Mia and Donyale had been drinking heavily.

Perrett said there was a "furious struggle" and that "both women tried to interfere from the start by shouting and swearing." Quarrier, who was raised in Montreal, appeared in avant-garde clothes and sheepskin coat.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Phi Beta Kappa keys are not the only medals that people hide because they don't want to be classed as show-offs.

I was a crewman on the aircraft carrier Enterprise in the Second World War. In the midst of the war with Japan we were granted leave in the U.S. while the Enterprise was being repaired. The entire crew was authorized to wear a decoration called the "Presidential Unit Citation" ribbon. Many men on that ship had been awarded the Navy Cross. When a liberty party stepped ashore the only ribbons worn were the American Theatre ribbons which had very little significance.

Later I was assigned to the Navy's Electrical School in Washington, D.C. One Saturday we were informed that any man who came to inspection without his ribbons would have his liberty held up. I had to slip into town and buy six ribbons. I also tucked a razor blade in my pocket so I could remove the ribbons as soon as the inspection officer passed. I was not alone. Of the 800 men in the school there were at least 200 concealed razor blades. When the parade was dismissed there were precious few ribbons showing.

At the end of the Second World War my wife complained because I refused to have a picture taken with my ribbons and medals. Somehow I just couldn't do it. I felt that the real heroes were the ones who were not around to pose for pictures. — UNKNOWN SAILOR.

Dear Sailer: Thank you for a letter that brought back some 25-year-old memories. How about it, readers? You, too?

Dear Ann: Our two sons are 12 and 13 years of age. They both take piano lessons but the 12-year-old does much better than the 13-year-old even though he started one year later. The boys take turns practicing. The younger boy does 45 minutes, starting at 4:00 p.m., then the older boy does his 45 minutes.

Yesterday I heard what was supposed to be the older boy playing but it sounded too good, even with the mistakes. I stuck my head in the back room and there was the younger boy doing time for his older brother.

I finally got it out of him. He was being paid 15 cents to practise while his brother was outside playing ball. Whom should I punish? — SALINAS.

Dear Sal: Punish both — they are equally guilty of deception. And don't forget the Landers rule of thumb for kids who are all thumbs when it comes to music lessons. Unless the child has a hopelessly tin ear and thoroughly hates to practise, make him stick with the lessons until he is 14. The discipline will be good for him.

If your particular situation is creating unhealthy competition between the brothers, perhaps you should knock off the older boy's lessons right now.

Confidential to Help Me Get Him: Sorry, Doll, I can't gift-wrap the yoke and give him to you. Why in the world do you want him? He sounds like the kind of a man women run from, not after.

Colleens Now Equal

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Republic of Ireland became Thursday the 11st country to adhere to an international agreement granting women equal rights with men to vote and hold office. The convention on the political rights of women was adopted by the General Assembly in December, 1952, and took effect in July, 1954.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale College has approved a proposal to admit women beginning September, 1969.

Student objections to housing arrangements proposed for women, however, may postpone implementation of the plan.

The proposal was given final and overwhelming approval Thursday by some 200 faculty members of the college. Only one vote was cast against the proposal, made by university president Kingman Brewster Jr.

The Yale Corp., the university's governing board of trustees, approved the plan Saturday.

The proposal calls for 500 young women to be admitted next fall, half as freshmen and half as upperclass transfer students. The freshmen girls would be housed together in one of Yale's 12 residential colleges. The other 250 girls would live off campus.

At a meeting Thursday night students said the plan would mean "segregation" of the sexes. They demanded alternatives that would mix the women into the university community on a more "equitable" basis.

Women's Bank

NANTES, France (Reuters) — France's first bank for women only has opened in this provincial town. More a social meeting place than a bank, clients can relax in arm chairs or read over a cup of coffee.

Getting a Volkswagen means giving up a few extras.

Here's some of the optional equipment you'll miss out on if you buy a Volkswagen. Tire chains. A snow shovel. Anti-freeze. Cement blocks. A radiator. A bucket of sand. And a bag or two of salt.

The reason you won't get stuck with a lot of extras like that when you get a VW, is because a VW won't get stuck.

It has an air-cooled engine in the rear mounted right over the back wheels (the ones that drive the car) so you can drive the car in snow, mud, slush or ice, and get somewhere.

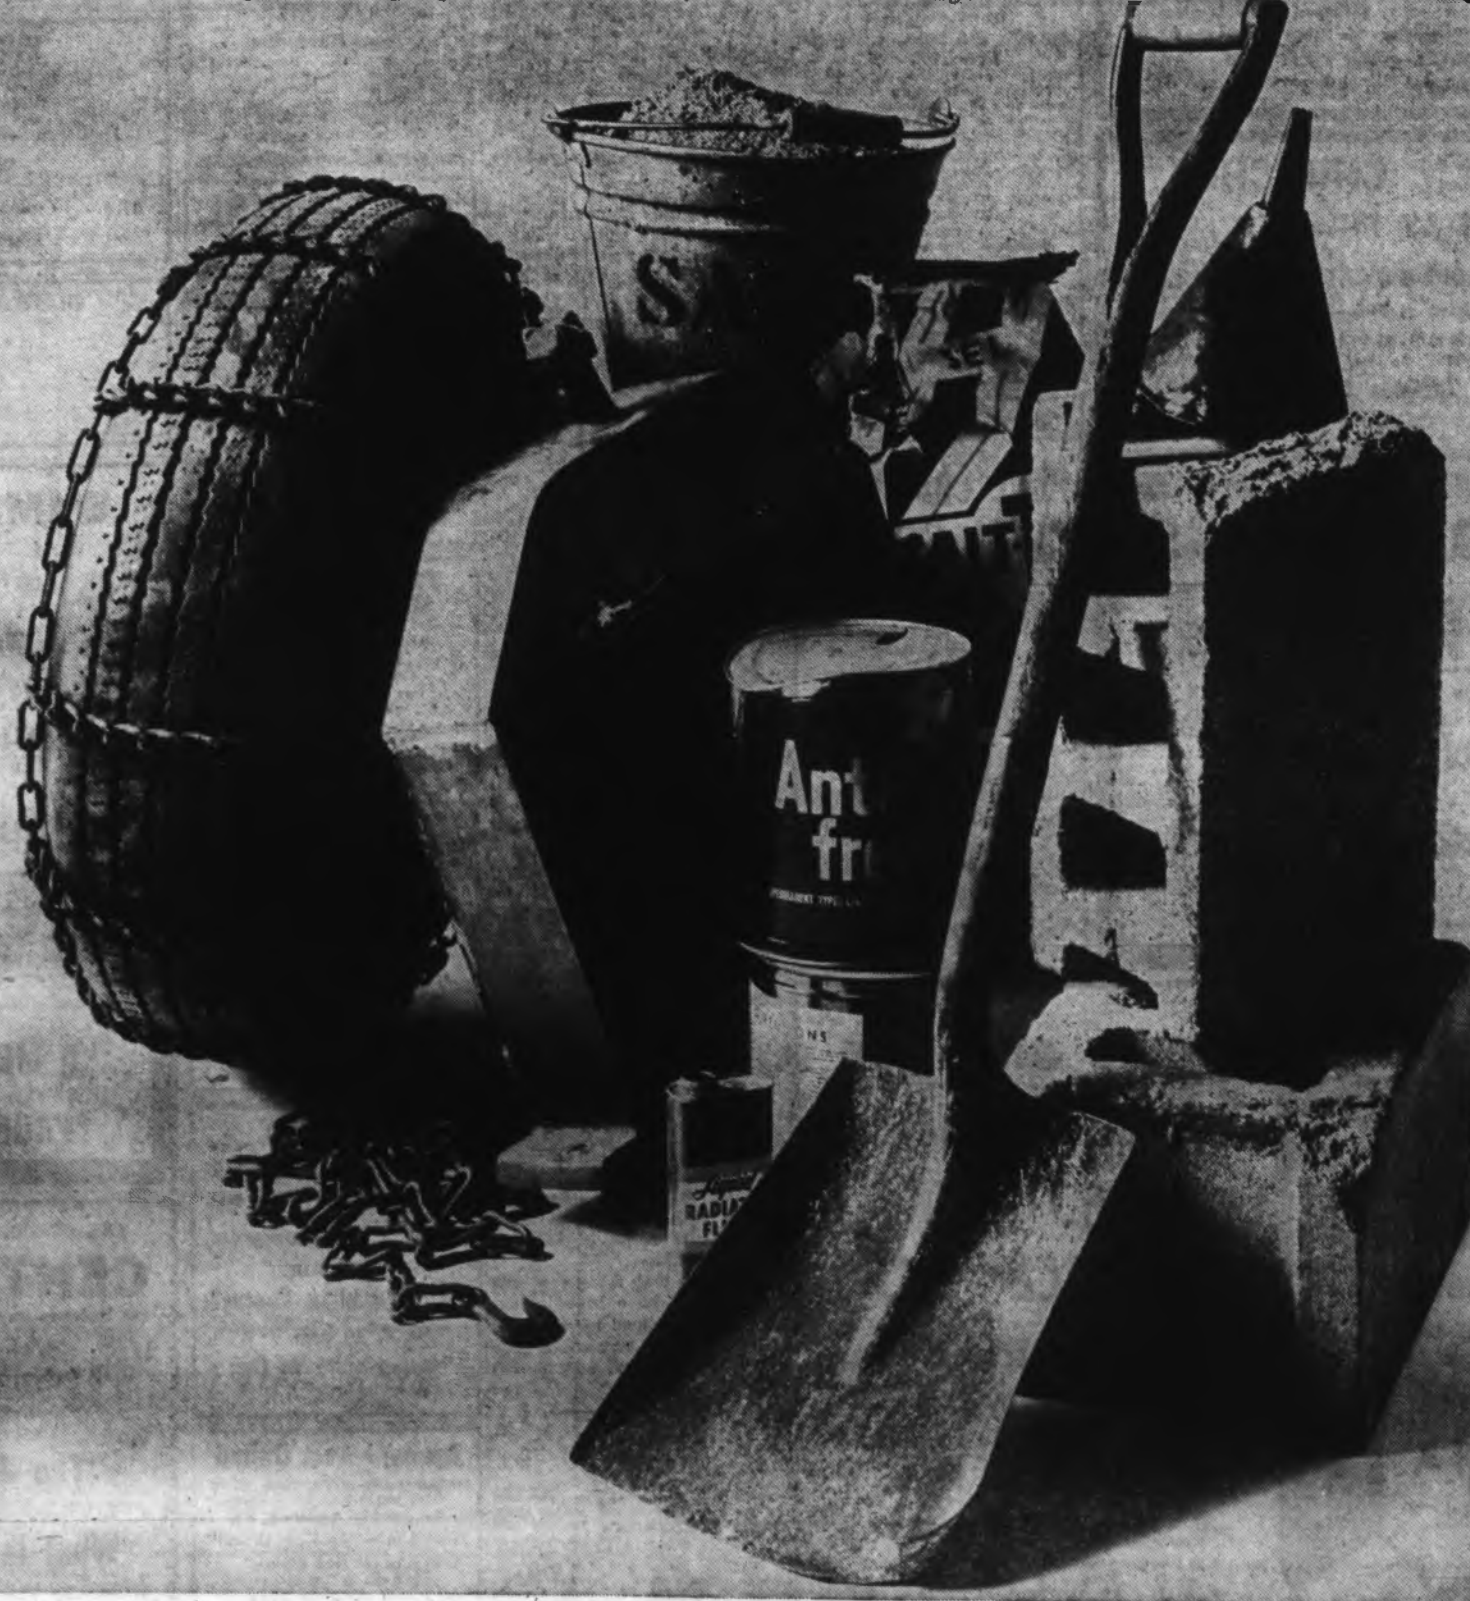

And because it's cooled by air, not water, it doesn't have a radiator to freeze up. So it goes without saying that it goes without anti-freeze, hoses, rad flush or rust inhibitors.

The extras you do get on a VW, you get at no extra cost. Important things like a carburetor de-icer to make sure it won't stall in cold weather. A specially coated, solid sheet of steel that seals the bottom against dirt, salt, sticks and stones. And four coats of paint everywhere to fight rust everywhere. (Which is why a Volkswagen looks as good in the Spring as it did in the Fall.)

Finally, in all honesty, we must admit that there are a few more extras you can't get on a VW. Pushbutton windows, pushbutton antennas or pushbutton seats.

But when you think about it, not having all those gadgets in a Volkswagen to push isn't all that bad. Not when you consider that you won't have to push the Volkswagen.

Brisbane Friar To Preach

Brother Geoffrey, Anglican Franciscan friar from Brisbane, Australia, will preach at 9:30 and 11 a.m. in Christ Church Cathedral. At 7:30 he will speak at Evensong in St. Matthias Church.

Recently appointed Father Minister of a newly-formed Pacific province of the Order of St. Francis, he has, in the past nine years, laid the foundations for work by his order in New Guinea.

Founder of the order was Brother Douglas, who was a missionary at Shawinigan Lake School and in the Meschic Lake area in 1944-45.

Brother Geoffrey has been invited to the Island by the Board of Mission of the Anglican diocese.

He will speak at 7:30 Monday in All Saints, View Royal, and will then leave for visits up Island.

Anglicans and United Church members will be brought up-to-date on the proposed union of their two churches at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Centennial United Church.

To Be or Not To Be is the subject to be discussed by Dr. Harry Kerley of Fairfield United Church and Canon Charles Bishop of St. George-the-Martyr Anglican Church.

A film on the founding of Israel will be shown in Sanscha Hall, Sidney, at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Titled Let My People Go, it is presented by the Victoria Kings Road Christadelphian Ecclesia and lasts about 45 minutes.

"It is not for young children or the tender-hearted," said R. W. Stodel of the Victoria ecclesia, "but will be of special interest for students of the Bible."

Bible study and prayer meetings are being held at 7 a.m. every Saturday in the Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. chapel by Rev. Dr. J. B. Rowell, under the sponsorship of the Christian Business Men's Committee of Victoria.

"Anyone interested in Bible studies or in deepening the spiritual side of his or her life is invited to attend," Dr. Rowell said.

A panel of educators will discuss Freedom and Authority in Education at 8 p.m. Sunday in the youth room of First United Church.

Panelists will be Donald Smith, Esquimalt Junior High School principal; Robert Hunter, Reynolds Road Junior High principal; Mrs. Ann Spicer of Norfolk House School for Girls and Sam Le Baron of Craigdarroch Free School.

The crisis in the ministry will be the subject of a panel discussion at 7 p.m. Sunday in Metropolitan United Church.

Panelists are Rev. Irving Hare, chaplain at CFB Esquimalt; Rev. Albert King, Rev. Laura Butler and Rev. Robert Moses. The congregation will be asked to participate.

Dr. Lotta Heschmanova will launch the Unitarian Service Committee's fund-raising campaign at a public meeting in Cridge Hall at the Church of Our Lord on Nov. 29. In its 24th year, the committee provides aid in many parts of the world.

Bilets for 85 boys are being sought for delegates to the Older Boys' Parliament between Christmas and New Year's. Leonard Lythgoe at First United Church, phone 388-5188, is compiling a list of persons who are willing to accommodate one or more boys.

A Treasure Auction will be held by the United Church Women at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the fellowship hall of First Church.

Building Fund Honors Alcorn

A building fund in memory of Dr. Douglas Alcorn, Victoria psychiatrist who died suddenly Nov. 9, has been announced by Rev. Arthur Wilnot of the Unitarian Church of Victoria.

Dr. Alcorn founded the Liberal Religious Fellowship of Victoria in 1950 out of what the present Unitarian Church has grown.

"His often-expressed aspiration for our church was that we should become established in a new church building in a location suitable for our growing congregation," Mr. Wilnot said.

MEMORIAL LIBRARY
"Those who knew Dr. Alcorn and his commitment would agree, I'm sure, that a flourishing, meaningful Unitarian Church of Victoria would be the greatest honor we could give him."

Incorporated in the proposed building would be a memorial library and a meditation room bearing the name of Douglas Earle Alcorn.

Members and friends of the congregation have been invited to make donations to the fund. They should be mailed Alcorn Building Fund and sent to P.O. Box 43, Victoria.

Bridge
Winners of a recent charity game held by the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club (Five blocks from the Jubilee) are: Margaret McAvoy and Dorothy Mulachy, 2. Keith Stapleton and Byron Price, 3. Joy Glover and V. Lewis, 4. Marjorie Fortie and Ron Smith, 5. Gwen Graham and Marjorie Eaton.

Wood from Peter's Throne?

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul Friday ordered an elaborate scientific inquiry to determine if fragments of ivory-encrusted wood at the Vatican are from the chair of St. Peter.

The Pontiff commissioned the study after a group of church scholars had concluded that the fragments were part of the first papal throne, but wanted more proof.

The fragments were encased in a bronze ornament created three centuries ago for the apex of St. Peter's Basilica. The pieces of wood were removed from the casing about 100 years ago and subjected then to a long examination that failed to determine their origin.

The Vatican announcement said a large commission headed by Cardinal Paolo Marella, archbishop of St. Peter's, had concluded the pieces of wood are authentic fragments of a chair of Peter. The Apostle is believed to have spent the last 25 years of his life in Rome. The Pontiff appointed a smaller commission, headed by Msgr. Michele Moccaroni, president of the Committee of Historical Sciences of the Holy See, to pursue the investigation, using scientific methods. Scholars from several nations will be on the commission, the Vatican said, without identifying them or the methods they will employ.

French Villages Erased Horror

"We don't remember the horrors and the trenches, but the jills during battle, lovely French villages and the French families that welcomed us back from the trenches," Gus Sivertz, former member of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, observed Thursday.

It was one of many reminiscences of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles' triumphant entry into Mons during the 50th anniversary celebration.

One of the old sweats, as Mr. Sivertz calls himself, remembered handling the victory telegram to the commander of the unit, who threw the telegram on the ground and shouted, "Bloody Fools!"

"They should have let us go on," he said. "Now your children and my children will have to fight this war again in 20 years."

Jack Johnson of Nanaimo spent his 15th birthday in the trenches. He's called a two-war liar because he lied to get into both the First World War and the Second, he said.

The old sweats or Whizzbangs as they also call themselves, were proud that out of 4,552 men in the unit, only three became prisoners of war.

Victoria Crosses were won by Major-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, at Passchendaele, and Major John MacGregor, at Cambrai.

The celebration Thursday was informal and 47 members got together from Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo to talk about old times. Major-Gen. Pearkes, until recently lieutenant-governor of B.C., couldn't be there, but sent a telegram.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT

It is a toss-up whether the spring or the fall is the busiest season of the year for a keen gardener. Right now, the fall chores are piling up to the point where it is difficult to decide what to do next. In assigning priorities, try to decide which piece of work will not wait, and do it immediately, soil and weather conditions permitting, no matter how interesting another job may be.

The digging over of the vegetable plot and any vacant flower beds, the pruning of trees and shrubs, garden alterations, construction of fences, arbors, trellises and walks—all these are on the list of necessary fall and winter work, but planting and transplanting are far more urgent.

It makes a tremendous difference if trees, small fruits, roses, shrubs and bulbs are planted while there is some residual warmth in the soil, while most of the pruning chores can be done any time before the middle of March.

Another point to remember is this: While pruning and training and construction of garden features can be done between showers during a wetish period, planting and digging are possible only when the soil is in a reasonably workable condition. On heavy soil, workable condition. On heavy soil, soil by even walking on it while sudden, much less digging or rototilling it.

It is best, therefore, to make hay while the sun shines, pressing on with the digging, planting and transplanting whenever the soil is dry enough, holding the pruning and training jobs in reserve against the time when the soil is a sea of gooey mud.

Incidentally, when you tackle the pruning and tying-in of wall-trained fruit trees, vines, cane fruits and the like, the work goes much better in dampish weather.

The shoots are more flexible and less likely to break as you train them into position, and if you are using the old-time gardener's raffia for your tying rather than the newer plastic ties, it handles much better when damp.

Ideally, the job of cutting out the old flowered canes of rambler roses and tying in the new ones should be done as soon as blooming ceases. In order to give the new canes plenty of exposure to sunlight and air to ripen their wood. I must confess that I keep putting off this chore, partly because it is a beast of a job handling the tangle of prickly canes, partly because you lose all the autumn beauty of the colored hips and tinted foliage when the work is done at the proper time.

On the other hand, grape vines and their near relatives, the Virginia creepers should be pruned early, to give the pruning wounds all the time possible to heal and harden before spring. These vines bleed like stuck pigs from unhealed wounds when the sap rises in spring.

The growth of the grass in the lawn weather, but I make a point of mowing it closely whenever a break in the is slowed up, thanks to the cool weather allows the grass to dry off enough to take the mower. Long grass in prolonged wet weather is an open invitation for fungus disease to become established. Use a grass catcher or rake up the clippings after mowing.

ARTHUR HOPPE Discloses U.S. Concern

Please Keep Fit, Mr. Nixon

The United States is again united. Liberal and Conservative have joined in common cause. And in an emotional display rarely equalled in the republic, there is but a single prayer today on the lips of millions of Americans of all walks of politics:

"Heaven preserve you, Mr. Nixon, for at least four more years."

This heartwarming concern for the president-elect has already resulted in the formation of The President's Physical Fitness Committee. Its chairman is the noted liberal, Dr. P. Granger Grommet.

"The goal of The President's Physical Fitness Committee," said Dr. Grommet simply, "is to keep the new president physically fit for his full term of office. Or, at the very least, alive."

"And we are confident that all Americans will fully support our efforts—once they realize the alternative."

Dr. Grommet said the committee had failed as yet to work out a precise physical fitness program for the new president.

"Some of our more panky members insist that the good of the nation demands that Mr. Nixon go look himself in a padded bomb shelter, not emerging until 1972. But cooler heads, while agreeing, feel this is too much to ask."

"We have concurred, however, on asking every American to send Nixon a weekly Stay Well card. Each would bear a friendly little note, such as: 'Don't eat fried foods, Mr. President.' 'Bundle up well on chilly days.' Or 'Think of America's progress and go jog.'

"We are also drafting legislation in the field that we are confident will merit bipartisan support. The Galoshes Bill, for example, will require the president to wear waterproof overshoes on damp days."

"We are gravely concerned about Nixon's love of the water. His first act on being elected, as you know, was to fly off to Florida to sport in the surf."

"Sport in the surf! Think of the fate of the tree world. Think of the late prime minister of Australia. The Presidential Wading Act will forbid any chief executive from getting in over his head. "But on the whole," said Dr. Grommet, "we look forward to the future with confidence. Nixon, after all, is only 55. He doesn't smoke, thank heaven. He drinks only in moderation. He is not seriously overweight. We feel that with the prayers of all Americans—with their offerings of chicken soup, warm mufflers and motherly concern—catastrophe can be averted."

Dr. Grommet concluded by saying that the nationwide concern for Nixon's continued good health was "a virtually unprecedented display of unity." And "we should all be proud," he said, "of the great progress our political system has made."

In closing he was asked if he could recall the country ever being so worried about a president-elect surviving his term of office.

"Yes," said Dr. Grommet, a pained look in his eye. "In 1957, when Eisenhower was elected."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Homeland Bars Star

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Genevieve Waite, pretty blonde star of the upcoming Joanna, has received word that she cannot go home again. She is barred from returning to South Africa because of her flaming bedroom scenes with the terrifically handsome black actor Calvin Lockhart.

Ingrid Bergman has signed to make her first movie in the United States since she played the role of Joan of Arc 20 years ago. The great Swedish actress will star for Columbia in A Walk in the Spring Rain, based on a novel by Rachel Maddux.

Darren McGavin was dazzling in Shine On, Shine On, Jesse Gil — in the new star television series at Universal, and he has been offered two big films. "Can't accept," says Darren cheerfully, "until February" — when he has the hiatus from his own TV series, The Outsider.

Edie Adams is re-activating her hilarious take-off on Jackie Kennedy-Osage. Edie dropped the skit from her night club act after John Kennedy was assassinated as she dropped her life-like impersonation of Marilyn Monroe after the suicide. Jackie and Marilyn had one thing in common — a childlike hip. Edie's caricature will include the wedding to Aristotle.

What with Pearl Bailey being such a hit in the all-black stage version of Dolly, there is talk in Hollywood that Guess Who's Coming to Dinner, which won an Oscar for Katharine Hepburn, will be re-made in a Negro version, showing a prosperous black family with a white man coming to dinner, and they are saying that the white one will be Frank Sinatra.

SYDNEY HARRIS

Airs His Thoughts

It is now a dozen years since seat belts have been offered by auto manufacturers, and still only 25 per cent of motorists use them regularly, most of these use them only for long trips on expressways (when they are least needed), and more than half of the users buckle them so loosely that the slack would hurtle them through the windshield anyway.

Marc Connelly's new book of memoirs, Voices Offstage, contains a fascinating chapter on the difficulties and ultimate success of his Pulitzer prize-winning play, Green Pastures, which I have long felt could and should be turned into a first-rate musical play, with more pertinence today than it had 30 years ago.

Giving people the power to vote without at the same time providing the requisite background for making a civilized choice can lead to the greatest despotism of all — the tyranny of the uninstructed majority.

One of the best explanations of the recent rash of "demonstrations" is given by Anthony Bean, Britain's minister of technology: "A prime minister can address the whole nation, if necessary at an hour's notice. A press tycoon can print his own article on the front page and have it read by millions. But for ordinary people with minority views, the only way of answering back is to walk about with a placard and hope the press or television will take a picture. Compared with the technology available to the mass media, the public is still stuck with a communication system that has hardly changed since the Stone Age."

The greatest threat to a decent way of life for all does not come from the extremists of left or right, but from the mass in the middle, who allow themselves to be moved by short-term benefits rather than basing their attitudes on long-term principles.

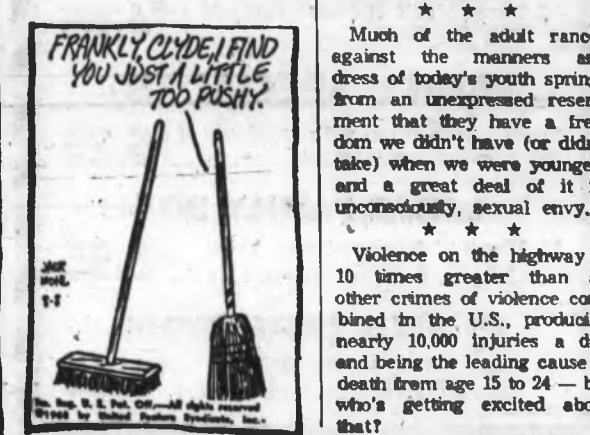

Much of the adult rancor against the manners and dress of today's youth springs from an unexpressed resentment that they have a freedom we didn't have (or didn't take) when we were younger, and a great deal of it is, unconsciously, sexual envy.

Violence on the highway is 10 times greater than all other crimes of violence combined in the U.S., producing nearly 10,000 injuries a day and being the leading cause of death from age 15 to 24 — but who's getting excited about that?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Psychiatric nurses in B.C. should receive wage parity with registered nurses in general hospitals, the B.C. Mediation Commission recommended Friday. It is the first recommendation handed down by the three-man group since it was established this year by the B.C. government.

Obscenities Provide Instant TV Ratings

CHICAGO (UPI) — Officials of educational TV station WTTW have apologized to the public for a string of four-letter obscenities heard during the Friendly Giant children's show just before suppertime Thursday.

The officials said they haven't yet decided what to do about the speaker, chief announcer Dana Griffin. He and a technician had an argument, the technician threw a log book at Griffin and the book hit a key, putting Griffin on the air with plentiful use of a vigorous Anglo-Saxon verb often seen on hippie placards.

Station director Edward Morris regretted the incident, which he said was no laughing matter, but added: "Our switchboard was flooded. We never knew we had so many viewers. We couldn't have found that out so quickly in any survey."

Organization Already FormingKennedy Sought for 1972By LYNNE WALLER

The organization to get Senator Edward Kennedy into the White House by 1972 is already forming, a Seattle lawyer told University of Victoria students Friday.

Freddie Tausend, former assistant attorney-general in the State of Washington, was issues co-ordinator for John O'Connell, Democratic candidate for Washington governor, who lost to Republican Dan Evans.

Mr. Tausend was at UVic to perform an election post-mortem for political science students.

He said that the appeal of a Kennedy candidate in the '72 election is undeniable, but it is too early for official moves in that direction.

Tausend

"Part of the Kennedy advantage lies," he said, "in the fact that they have always been able to attract and skillfully use excellent staff."

He said the country was ready for a change from Lyndon Johnson, whose style of conducting the presidency was out of tune with the times, and added: "... although as a Democrat I am not particularly delighted with the election of Richard Nixon."

He also said, if Nixon continues the course of flexibility and moderation he adopted during his campaign, the country will move ahead in the next four years "with more problems being solved than created."

He suggested that the mood of the country as expressed in the election was constructive and moderate, "a rejection of bigotry and repression."

Grounded Since Nov. 4Crew of Hercules Ready to Leave

SANTA ISABEL (CP) — The crew of the last remaining Canadian Forces Hercules transport involved in Biafran relief operations is to leave for home this weekend.

Their plane has been grounded since Nov. 4 at Santa Isabel on the island of Fernando Poo in Equatorial Guinea, jumping-off point for Red Cross planes ferrying relief supplies to secessionist Biafra.

The plane was grounded first by mechanical difficulties and then by almost daily federal Nigerian air attacks on Ullrichs airstrip in Biafra.

CLOSE CALL

It was learned that a bomb fell within a few hundred yards of two Canadian parliamentarians, Liberal Ralph Stewart of Cochrane and New Democrat Lorne Nystrum of Yorkton-Melville. They were in Biafra for a private on-the-spot investigation.

The 32-man crew and ground support personnel from Nampes, Alaska, is returning to Canada after five weeks here, most of it on the ground.

There was no indication a replacement crew due here this weekend, will be any more active, at least immediately.

The Canadians appeared willing to continue flights but were ordered by at-home authorities to hold off, pending clarification of Nigerian guarantees of safe passage.

Here's big trouble for other small cars.

'Unleashed' Experts Favor Fluoridation

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

Every qualified expert in the provincial health department favors the fluoridation of water supplies as a preventive measure against tooth decay.

Loffmark Hint

Diesel Fumes Target

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark hinted broadly Friday that his department might crack down in future on buses and trucks that pour heavy diesel fumes into cities and along major highways in B.C.

The minister told a press conference that the government was concerned about possible health problems arising from vehicle exhaust fumes and now is "looking into the possibility of developing an alternative to the diesel combustion engine."

The greatest source of exhaust fumes are large trucks and buses, and it is in this area, Mr. Loffmark noted, there have recently been some "very interesting and apparently practical alternatives to engines using heavy diesel oil."

"We would like to see a different fuel used in these heavy vehicles which would reduce the amount of exhaust fumes," he said.

The minister said the experts also claim that running costs for trucks and buses can be reduced by using a new fuel.

Asked how he would enforce any new regulations banning the use of diesel fuel, Mr. Loffmark said: "The department of health, as you must know by recent events, has very, very wide powers in this respect."

Bea

Promoter Of Unity Dies at 87

ROME (UPI) — Cardinal Augustin Bea, the Roman Catholic church's chief spokesman for Christian unity and a world-renowned Bible scholar, died Friday. He was 87.

Bea was considered one of the major figures of modern Roman Catholicism. He was one of the late Pope John XXIII's closest collaborators in planning the Vatican's Ecumenical Council and in getting Protestant, orthodox and other non-Catholic churches to send observers to the historic gathering.

This disclosure came after Health Minister Ralph Loffmark announced Friday he was authorizing all technically qualified persons in his department to make public statements — "pro or con" — on the fluoridation issue.

Dr. Kenneth Benson, assistant provincial health officer and director of the bureau of local health services, said a recent meeting of medical health officers from all over B.C. voted unanimously in favor of fluoridation. There are 25 medical health officers in the province and all were present at the meeting held in Victoria.

DENTAL OFFICERS

In addition, Dr. Benson said, Dr. Frank McCombie, director of the division of preventive dentistry and all five of the province's regional dental consultants also support fluoridation.

Both Dr. Benson and deputy health minister Dr. J. A. Taylor said they personally favored fluoridation of water supplies. Dr. Benson added: "Nobody in the department to my knowledge has any doubts about it (fluoridation) from a professional standpoint."

Mr. Loffmark said earlier that he was asked to make a policy statement on the fluoridation issue. One request came from Vancouver where there is to be an area vote on the issue in December and others were received from various parts of the province.

Thieu Nearer Talks

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam said today the United States and South Vietnamese governments are working to resolve their differences over Saigon's participation in the Paris peace talks.

Sources had said earlier that Thieu might end his boycott of the talks if he got certain assurances from Washington.

"President Johnson and I are working," Thieu said. "The United States and Republic of Vietnam governments are working. Everything must be settled with composure and patience, and in an open-minded understanding spirit."

NEARLY READY

Thieu's comments were distributed by the Vietnam Press, the official government news agency, shortly after he was reported nearing readiness to reënter provided Washington guaranteed he would not have to form a coalition government with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The informants said there was a growing feeling among members of Thieu's government and members of the Senate and National Assembly that the South Vietnamese government must join the Paris negotiations eventually.

FIRST STAND

Any decision on the peace talks issue probably would follow a reshuffle of the cabinet. Informants said if a stronger cabinet is created, Thieu would feel more secure and might not feel it necessary that his delegation outrank that of the Viet Cong's South Vietnam National Liberation Front at Paris.

It was Thieu's refusal to meet the front as an equal that led to his boycott and forced the United States to postpone the opening of the expanded Paris talks Nov. 6.

Diplomatic sources said Washington is disposed to accept Thieu's wishes — the also has demanded that the South Vietnamese government head the anti-Communist delegation with the front taking a secondary role behind North Vietnam — but they cautioned there were other complications.

Some of the complications this.

Chretien with Indians Even Against Bennett

KELOWNA (CP) — Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien announced here Friday that his job is to support Indians in B.C. even if it means fighting Premier Bennett.

The minister listened to discussions between officials of his department and 27 spokesmen of southern interior B.C. bands.

He spent an hour answering questions from the Indians and then settled down for the rest of the day to listen.

Asked if he would support the Indians in the event they had a legitimate claim against the province Mr. Chretien said: "I have to support the Indians. That is my job and if it means fighting Premier Bennett, I will do so."

But he warned Indians that he cannot oppose the provinces when they are within their jurisdictions.

He said many problems

Veins Connected in Operation

Chimpanzee Link May Save Child's Life

ATLANTA (UPI) — Doctors linked the veins of a 3-year-old child with those of a chimpanzee for nearly six hours Friday in a last-ditch effort to save her life and said cautiously that the operation may have helped.

Dr. Joseph Patterson, organizer of the team which performed the operation, said the unidentified child was still comatose after spending six hours linked to the chimp, but was "perhaps slightly improved."

The girl was fighting a losing battle against hepatitis, a virus infection that attacks the liver. The object of the operation, Patterson said, was to allow the chimp's liver to work for the girl, giving her own liver time to recover and fight against the infection.

After the link was severed and the girl's system restored to function on its own, Patterson said, the bilirubin level in her blood fell almost to normal, which he said indicated a properly functioning liver.

However, he said chances "are overwhelmingly against" the child's recovery.

Similar operations, using baboons rather than chimps, have been performed at the Medical College of Virginia and by Dr. Christian Barnard, the pioneer heart transplant specialist.

Patterson said all these cases were different and could not reasonably be lumped, but that the patients involved in the Virginia operations died, and Dr. Barnard's patient, a 29-year-old woman, recovered.

Patterson said that to the best of his knowledge, his operation was the first of its kind to utilize a chimpanzee.

World Monetary Crisis Feared

Franc, Pound Sagging

PARIS (AP) — France is expected to seek massive international support for the franc at a meeting of central governors in Switzerland this weekend.

The British pound sterling, meanwhile, plunged Friday to its lowest level in 10 months. Financial experts in London

Friday night expressed deepening concern that the world is on the verge of a new monetary crisis.

There were persistent reports in London that the franc would be devalued and the West German mark revalued upward. The franc is about five to $1 U.S. and the mark about four to $1.

Financial sources in Paris reporting the French plight Friday night said the French would ask at the monthly Basel meeting for additional credits amounting to at least $1,300,000,000.

That was the total of swap agreements made July 10 with the central banks of West Germany, Belgium, Italy, The Netherlands and the United States Federal Reserve and the Bank of International Settlements.

Though it was not known how deeply France had gone into the July loan, the feeling in financial circles was that support operations to protect the franc against speculation had eaten well into it.

Officially reported reserve losses, since the weakness of the franc developed in the May-June student and worker upheavals and their aftermath, now total some $2,600,000,000. That does not count any use of swap funds.

Gold and hard currency reserves were reported at $4,100,000,000 by the French Central Bank as of last week. In ordinary circumstances that would be enough to maintain confidence in French ability to hold the franc at its present parity.

But private investors were

No Viewing with Alarm

Russia Warned Against Thrust

BRUSSELS (AP) — The United States gave notice Friday that it believes any Soviet attack on Austria or independent Communist Yugoslavia would menace the whole 15-country North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Informants said NATO leaders at the ministerial meeting here were drafting a declaration that any new Communist thrust in Europe would meet something stronger than the Western viewing with alarm that followed the Warsaw pact invasion of Czechoslovakia Aug. 20.

CONTINGENCY PLANS

NATO strategists are working on contingency plans for defending certain countries considered candidates for possible Soviet attack, highly qualified sources said. Such countries include Austria — not a NATO member — and the maverick Communist nations of Yugoslavia, Albania and Romania, they said.

One top informant said NATO would go to the aid of a victim of Soviet attack only if it received a request for help.

REMOTE PROSPECT

Others added that the prospect of going to the aid of a Warsaw pact member such as Romania or Albania, no matter how negligible its involvement in the Communist organization, was remote.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk was quoted as telling NATO foreign ministers that a Soviet thrust into Romania would spark an even greater crisis for Europe than the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

NOT RECALLED

Accounts of Rusk's speech were made known to correspondents by conference officials. The secretary's aides broadly confirmed what they called the passing references he made to Austria and Yugoslavia. They neither confirmed nor denied his remarks on Romania, explaining Rusk himself could not remember alluding to that independent-minded Communist country.

The NATO council of foreign ministers, beginning a two-day survey of world affairs and especially of European matters, was debating the implications of the Czechoslovak incident.

Chain of Warning Shy Many Links

LONDON (UPI) — The NATO plan to warn key men in case of an emergency broke down into "something of a fiasco" when the Soviet bloc invaded Czechoslovakia, a British official said Friday.

"I am told that when SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers Europe) set out to pass the order down its various chains of command, it found that key men in key places either were not on post, had been moved, had failed to notify their subordinates of changes in their situation, were on holiday or perhaps having a night off," Lord Wigg said.

Wigg, who directs Britain's civil service, told an army reserve regiment dinner that although something of a state of alert was achieved "it is said to have been late, spotty and much less than fully effective."

Wigg said NATO officials had decided some new form of alert system would have to be quickly evolved.

Liberal Berates Canada's NATO Decision

● Canada resentful over NATO pressure. Page 5.

BRUSSELS (CP) — The Canadian government's unbridled reaction to the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia appeared Friday to have satisfied NATO colleagues, but not all members of Canada's own group at the NATO session in this Belgian capital.

While there appeared no disposition among partner countries to quibble at the Canadian decision to defer a reduction in the air division in West Germany, Liberal Senator Dan Laing of Toronto termed it "a weak response" to the Soviet-led move.

"I am disappointed," said Laing, member of a parliamentary group who earlier in the week had accused the Trudeau administration of equivocation to the point where Canada was being discredited among allies for under-reacting to the situation created by the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"Short-term commitments will be weak commitments,"

Defeat Sequel

Bylaw Charges Anger Farmers

DUNCAN — Farmers in the Cowichan and Kokishah valleys are indignant over charges that they had been mainly responsible for the recent defeat of a $350,000 recreation bylaw.

Residents in the unorganized areas voted on the bylaw with ratepayers of Duncan and the south end of North Cowichan.

At a recent meeting of Cowichan Agricultural Society, directors voiced strong objection to a statement that farmers had contributed considerably to the bylaw's defeat, said society secretary Bill Barker.

"There are 50 bonafide farmers in this district and it is self-evident that if they had all voted they could not have made a noticeable effect on the voting result."

Mr. Barker said the farmers in the Cowichan and Kokishah districts have been assisting recreation in the area for many years.

"Therefore it is grossly unjust to say they are against recreation."

"The Cowichan Agricultural Society has been the voice of farmers in Cowichan for the past 100 years and the society made it possible to acquire the Exhibition Grounds by taking an option on the original acreage and putting up the money to cover it. Then they went all out to raise the balance with the aid of North Cowichan and the city of Duncan."

Mr. Barker said his society is in the process of transferring about four acres of the grounds to the municipality without cost.

"The society is doing this to make the planning of the whole area easier."

Mayor Visits Harbor

NANAIMO — Mayor Frank Ney and harbor master John Dunham made a tour of the harbor Thursday to investigate pollution.

Mayor Ney took water samples which they delivered to the health unit for testing. "We found a sewer pipe with about 12 homes connected," he said. He predicted these would be connected to regular systems when the Pearson Bridge construction begins, eliminating dumping of raw sewage directly into the harbor.

'EXTREMELY CLEAN' "Compared to most industrial harbors, Nanaimo is extremely clean and stands head and shoulders above the others," he said.

He said extensive tests will be made of harbor water. He said recent tests showed the pollution only affects commercial shellfish gathering. The coliform count is 70 in each 100 cubic centimeters of water. He said the usual standard for swimming is 1,000 for each cubic centimeter.

Mayor Ney said the highest count within the greater Nanaimo area this summer was in Departure Bay when the coliform rose to about 600. He said that could be due to heavier ferry traffic which will be eliminated when the ferries install holding tanks.

SEWAGE PLANTS Ken Alexander, greater Nanaimo sewage and drainage board chairman, said that Nanaimo, Northfield, Wellington and Departure Bay would have to install sewage treatment plants to conform with provincial legislation.

He said the plants would be needed whenever new subdivisions are connected to existing facilities.

Workers Approve Contract

GOLD RIVER — An agreement on fringe benefits at the Gold River pulp mill was ratified Friday by members of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada.

Negotiations were carried out for the Tabula Co. by the Pulp and Paper Industrial Relations Bureau.

One issue involved the use of cars over the road from the town to the mill.

The company has agreed to provide credit at a local garage for car owners who use the road "at a reasonable rate" said Don Lanskall, acting president of the bureau.

The credit will cover service and maintenance until the road is blacktopped by the highway department. The work is expected to be completed early next year.

Ney

Shawnigan Lake School

Work to Begin Soon On Building Program

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — Construction is due to begin before the end of the year on a $650,000 expansion and modernization program at Shawnigan Lake School for boys.

The program will involve erection of three student residences which will each house 50 boys. This follows extensive remodeling this summer of dormitories and dining facilities in the school's main building.

Paul Merrick of Thompson, Berwick, Pratt and Partners, architects for the project, said the proposed construction fits in with an overall plan for future development of the campus prepared earlier this year.

Mr. Merrick said original plans called for the construction of one student residence to ease overcrowding in the school's main building. At that stage 150 boys, dining hall and administration offices were located in the main building. The other 100 boys of the school's student body were housed in Copemans House, another building on campus.

Mr. Merrick explained that the contemporary design of the new residences will provide a more domestic residential atmosphere for students.

Each residence will overlook the existing central campus garden around which all future buildings will also be built.

Each residence will contain seven two-boy rooms, six four-boy rooms and one 12-boy dormitory for younger students.

It will also include meeting, games and common rooms for the boys, plus house master's facilities, a suite for the assistant housemaster and an adjoining housemaster's residence.

General contractor for the program is G. H. Wheaton Ltd., of Victoria.

However, Copemans House was destroyed by fire this summer so a further two

Cumberland Asks About Schools

COURTENAY — The battle between Cumberland and Courtenay school trustees is on again.

A recommendation, that the trustees make a final decision as soon as possible on the future of Cumberland schools, was made this week by Norm Sieffert, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee.

It followed several meetings between the board and Cumberland council in which Cumberland sought the answer to the future of its schools.

Council questioned school trustees on a rumor that the junior secondary school was to be phased out and used as an elementary school, but so far it has not received an answer.

Trustee Sieffert said at assuming the board has absolute authority, the only consideration in determining its course of action would be educational and financial.

His report pointed out that if the secondary school is to continue and a new elementary school built, then an educational specifications committee would have to be set up.

However, his report continued, if the secondary school is terminated and amalgamated with Courtenay, then it would be necessary to establish the degree of support such a move would receive from affected people.

Trustee Sieffert pointed out that the education department is concerned as it has a major share in capital and operating costs, but the department has, historically, not gone against public opinion. He suggested that the final approach to the department should be made after public opinion has been determined.

The report suggested four methods to sound out public feeling.

They are: a public meeting at which a show of hands would be taken; a public meeting and a ballot; public meetings, followed by a postal ballot addressed to parents, or a postal ballot without public meetings.

If the board decides on a ballot, it was pointed out it could be carried out in conjunction with municipal elections on Dec. 7.

Trustee Sieffert's report also referred to other Cumberland considerations and noted that an additional classroom will be required at the elementary school for September, 1969. Since the school is also entitled to a library, the requirement is actually two classrooms, he said.

Referring to the development of the elementary school site, proposed by Cumberland council, trustee Sieffert said the cost estimate made by maintenance supervisor Stan Rowe was four times that made by Associated Engineers, a firm of professional consultants.

Garbage Worry

Duncan to Study Disposal Methods

DUNCAN — A two-cell Australian-Built incinerator may solve the area's problem, Ald. Jim Saunders told Duncan council this week.

He indicated that the cost of the incinerator would be about $30,000, that it could serve a population of about 18,000 people.

He said a firm, Goodrid Incinerator, would give a demonstration at Vancouver soon.

"It looks very practical and, if we get enough people using it, it would be very good for the city."

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

Meanwhile a council committee will study two other garbage disposal suggestions.

One, from C. W. Disposals, suggests a contract with the city at $20 a month for the maintenance of the city's dump.

A second proposal was made by Ald. Saunders who based his recommendations on an earlier survey made by Ald. Martin Lukaitis.

Ald. Saunders proposed a gate and fence at the dump, opening hours for the public Saturdays and Sundays and a 25-cent charge per carload on $1 per truckload.

He said many people using the dump come from the unorganized area.

The cost would be $120 per month half of which would be borne by the North Cowichan municipality.

Ald. Saunders and Ald. Tom Kilpatrick told council that a completed sidewalk along Government Street will have to wait until the provincial government has determined the rebuilding level of the road.

Referring to the 1969 road program, Ald. Lukaitis asked why there would be no sidewalk built along Government Street for elementary students attending Khownhem school.

"I would also like to see council requesting the provincial government and the municipality of North Cowichan to get moving on improving the approaches to the new hospital."

FUTURE SITES

Ald. John Getz explained an engineer recently suggested the widening of the Gibbins Road approach but the Cowichan district hospital board was reluctant to give up 30 feet of land.

"Now everybody is scratching his head and wonders what will be done about it."

Referring to the Government Street sidewalk discussion Ald. Dick Bendzes suggested asking the education department not to allow school construction unless municipalities approve future sites.

He said that two schools in the area have been built by Cowichan school board without consultation with the council.

"They build schools and then they run to the city and the municipality," he said.

TAXI BYLAW

"Why should we have taxis on the streets?" asked Ald. Saunders when council gave two readings to the taxi stand bylaw. Amendments will be made before council will consider a third reading.

Ald. Saunders said, "Merchants are not going into the streets to sell their products."

He suggested that as soon as taxis use more parking than was allocated the contract should be cancelled.

Debentures Approved

The issue and sale of $2,532,000 worth of debentures by four Vancouver Island regional hospital directors was approved Friday by Health Minister Ralph Loftmark.

The districts are: Malaspina ($850,000); Comox-Strathcona ($715,000); Alberni-Clayoquot ($120,000) and Capital Region ($72,000).

Another Look Taken At Waterfront Area

CAMPBELL RIVER — A general district development plan.

Aldermen were told the latter is a combination of road patterns, new land use, zoning, possible extension of services, a long term capital budget plan and a population forecast.

Norman Worsley of Willis Ounlike and Tait, the town planning firm employed by the municipality, felt that Campbell River has a "tremendous opportunity for waterfront development."

Port Alberni Venture

Laboratory Opens To Assist Hearing

Story and Picture By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI

People with hearing problems now have a completely up-to-date hearing laboratory at hand to provide accurate, continuous audiometric testing.

A central hearing laboratory, has been opened by Dr. Malcolm Graham of Victoria, which will avoid the need to travel to Victoria or the Mainland.

"Widespread screening of schoolchildren is being carried on in Port Alberni. When children with obvious or suspected hearing problems are found, parents are informed of the difficulty and they usually take the child to a family doctor."

He suggested that as soon as taxis use more parking than was allocated the contract should be cancelled.

ADDITIONAL LEVEL

The laboratory serves the family doctor in the same way as X-rays, blood or similar laboratory tests. It provides an additional level of screening where abnormalities in hearing can be tested under accurate, sound-proof, conditions, and where if necessary, series of tests may be conducted at intervals. Hearing losses are assessed with modern equipment, involving electronic devices, and a sound-proof cabinet.

Response to both speech and pure tone are tested. Earphones are used for part of the test, and each ear can be individually evaluated for hearing loss.

A similar device is used on the mastoid bone, just behind the ear, for "bone-testing."

The difference in air conduction, or bone conduction is what determines the diagnosis of the condition, Dr. Graham explained.

Once the diagnosis is made, a suitable form of hearing aid can be suggested.

However, the laboratory is in no way connected with the sale of hearing aids, said Dr. Graham. The various types of aids are assessed, and recommendations made as to the type best suited to serve the needs of the patient.

"For some hearing losses, hearing aids may be expected to do a great deal for the patient. For others, hearing aids are no help whatsoever," he explained.

Children are not the sole reason for the new facility.

"We hope that this will bring about a more pleasant, accurate and effective fitting of hearing aids for the elderly," Dr. Graham said.

The accuracy of scientific testing by a trained audiometrician helps to avoid the purchase of unsuitable and sometimes completely ineffective hearing aids, sometimes at a cost of several hundred dollars, he said.

The new laboratory, in the heart of the downtown area, will be open Monday to Friday.

Mrs. Evelyn Ferguson, a trained audiometrician, will be in charge of the screening and her tapes and reports will be forwarded daily to Dr. Graham for assessment.

Within a few days, his report is back in the hands of the local doctor providing guidance in the specialized field.

Gravel Pit Tender Accepted by Village

PARKSVILLE — A $30,000 tender from Jenkins Brothers Contracting of Parksville, for the purchase of gravel pit property near the municipal garbage dump, has been accepted by village council.

It was the only tender received. Council is studying a $204,421 sewer extension plan drawn up by consulting engineer Bruce Tait.

An alternative plan, which costs less, is also being studied.

The action follows requests from residents at the north end of the village.

It was pointed out that a service charge of $6 a month would have to be charged to enable a scheme to be self-liquidating—a government requirement in providing a loan for sewer installations.

Council is considering using more control over mobile homes following a report from building inspector W. G. Wheeler that some are too close for adequate fire protection after porches or patios have been added.

Council is to ask the school board to provide school patrols. Aldermen decided to offer uniforms for the children.

Cowichan Flooding PledgeEarly Warning Will Come

DUNCAN — Lake Cowichan Ald. Herb Holliday has assured North Cowichan Ald. John Cannon that it would be possible to give communities in the lower reaches of the Cowichan River sufficient warning if Cowichan Lake and river levels rise to a danger point.

The two aldermen are members of the Cowichan Valley regional district board which met at Duncan Wednesday night.

Ald. Cannon said an early warning would enable authorities in Duncan and North Cowichan to prepare before flood waters reached the lower Cowichan Valley.

Ald. Jim Saunders of Duncan agreed.

"It would be very valuable information," he said.

The takeover of the Mesachie Lake area by the board will be the only way for the community to become a self-sufficient residential area, it was stated.

The small settlement, west of Lake Cowichan, still belongs to the Hillcrest Lumber Co. which stopped operations recently.

The board decided to carry out a study of the operating cost of the water and sewer systems, maintenance of the recreational facilities and fire protection services. A vote will be organized for residents.

The company expressed its willingness earlier to turn over all facilities to the board in an attempt to make former milltown a residential area.

Another meeting of regional directors, company representatives and residents is scheduled for tonight.

Alan Anderson, regional director from the area, said residents would favor a district takeover.

The board accepted a recommendation from Cobble Hill director George Braithwaite and will make preliminary inquiries about acquiring a piece of land on Cobble Hill mountain for a park.

He also prompted the board into asking the provincial government to enforce legislative regulations regarding car wrecks near public roads.

Fire protection votes will be held Dec. 7 for residents in the North Oyster and Saltair areas.

Council Sets Budget

NANAIMO — The Malaspina College Council has set a provisional budget of $620,000 to establish and operate the college in temporary quarters beginning in September next year.

The budget includes the hiring of senior personnel who would set up curricula, assemble a library and instructional equipment and arrange for building and equipment rental.

A budget of $60,000 has been allocated for office staff, and salaries for principal, and secretary-treasurer.

Salaries for an estimated 25 professors and instructors are $125,000 for the partial year.

The education department's share of the budget totals an estimated $275,000 or 45 per cent of the total budget.

The remaining $391,000 will be apportioned to each of the participating school districts based on their assessment. This will assure a uniform mill rate throughout the college region. Total assessment in the region is $360,000.

Malaspina College council chairman Jack Whittam of Nanaimo explained that the budget is based on an estimated enrolment of 400 students, who would pay an estimated $50,000 in fees.

The cost of operating actual classes for a full year would be identical, as the large initial outlay represented in startup costs would not be repeated in subsequent years, he said.

"This amount equals about two-thirds of our budget," he said. The cost to the taxpayer is estimated to be .775 mills.

'Unleashed' Experts Favor Fluoridation

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

Every qualified expert in the provincial health department favors the fluoridation of water supplies as a preventive measure against tooth decay.

Loffmark Hint

Diesel Fumes Target

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark hinted broadly Friday that his department might crack down in future on buses and trucks that pour heavy diesel fumes into cities and along major highways in B.C.

The minister told a press conference that the government was concerned about possible health problems arising from vehicle exhaust fumes and now is "looking into the possibility of developing an alternative to the diesel combustion engine."

The greatest source of exhaust fumes are large trucks and buses, and it is in this area, Mr. Loffmark noted, there have recently been some "very interesting and apparently practical alternatives to engines using heavy diesel oil."

"We would like to see a different fuel used in these heavy vehicles which would reduce the amount of exhaust fumes," he said.

The minister said the experts also claim that running costs for trucks and buses can be reduced by using a new fuel.

Asked how he would enforce any new regulations banning the use of diesel fuel, Mr. Loffmark said: "The department of health, as you must know by recent events, has very, very wide powers in this respect."

Bea

Promoter Of Unity Dies at 87

ROME (UPI) — Cardinal Augustin Bea, the Roman Catholic church's chief spokesman for Christian unity and a world renowned Bible scholar, died Friday. He was 87.

Bea was considered one of the major figures of modern Roman Catholicism. He was one of the late Pope John XXIII's closest collaborators in planning the Vatican's Ecumenical Council and in getting Protestant Orthodox and other non-Catholic churches to send observers to the historic gathering.

This disclosure came after Health Minister Ralph Loffmark announced Friday he was authorizing all technically qualified persons in his department to make public statements — "pro or con" — on the fluoridation issue.

Dr. Kenneth Benson, assistant provincial health officer and director of the bureau of local health services, said a recent meeting of medical health officers from all over B.C. voted unanimously in favor of fluoridation. There are 25 medical health officers in the province and all were present at the meeting held in Victoria.

DENTAL OFFICERS

In addition, Dr. Benson said, Dr. Frank McCombie, director of the division of preventive dentistry and all five of the province's regional dental consultants also support fluoridation.

Both Dr. Benson and deputy health minister Dr. J. A. Taylor said they personally favored fluoridation of water supplies. Dr. Benson added: "Nobody in the department to my knowledge has any doubts about it (fluoridation) from a professional standpoint."

Mr. Loffmark said earlier that he was asked to make a policy statement on the fluoridation issue. One request came from Vancouver where there is to be an area vote on the issue in December and others were received from various parts of the province.

Thieu Nearer Talks

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam said today the United States and South Vietnamese governments are working to resolve their differences over Saigon's participation in the Paris peace talks.

Sources had said earlier that Thieu might end his boycott of the talks if he got certain assurances from Washington.

"President Johnson and I are working," Thieu said. "The United States and Republic of Vietnam governments are working. Everything must be settled with composure and patience, and in an open-minded understanding spirit."

NEARLY READY

Thieu's comments were distributed by the Vietnam Press, the official government news agency, shortly after he was reported nearing readiness to request provided Washington guaranteed he would not have to form a coalition government with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The informants said there was a growing feeling among members of Thieu's government and members of the Senate and National Assembly that the South Vietnamese government must join the Paris negotiations eventually.

FIRST STAND

Any decision on the peace talks issue probably would follow a reshuffle of the cabinet. Informants said if a stronger cabinet is created, Thieu would feel more secure and might not feel it necessary that his delegation outwork that of the Viet Cong's South Vietnam National Liberation Front at Paris.

It was Thieu's refusal to meet the front as an equal that led to his boycott and forced the United States to postpone the opening of the expanded Paris talks Nov. 6.

Diplomatic sources said Washington is disposed to accept Thieu's wishes—he also has

Chretien with Indians Even Against Bennett

KELOWNA (CP) — Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien announced here Friday that his job is to support Indians in B.C. even if it means fighting Premier Bennett.

The minister listened to discussions between officials of his department and 27 spokesmen of southern interior B.C. bands. He spent an hour answering questions from the Indians and then settled down for the rest of the day to listen. Asked if he would support the Indians in the event they had a legitimate claim against the province Mr. Chretien said "I have to support the Indians. That is my job and if it means fighting Premier Bennett, I will do so."

But he warned Indians that he cannot oppose the province when they are within their jurisdictions. He said many problems with the present Indian Act, which will be replaced by 1970, are questions of legal interpretation of the constitution, not of legislation.

The minister told reporters that a resolution to establish an Indian Claims Commission had been put on the parliamentary order paper at the beginning of the week.

The commission will examine Indian land claims and pass on their validity.

Veins Connected in Operation

Tie with Chimp May Save Child's Life

ATLANTA (UPI) — Doctors linked the veins of a 3-year-old child with those of a chimpanzee for nearly six hours Friday in a last-ditch effort to save her life and said cautiously that the operation may have helped.

Dr. Joseph Patterson, organizer of the team which performed the operation, said the unidentified child was still comatose after spending six hours linked to the chimp, but was "perhaps slightly improved."

The girl was fighting a losing battle against hepatitis, a virus infection that attacks the liver. The object of the operation, Patterson said, was to allow the chimp's liver to work for the girl, giving her own liver time to recover and fight against the infection.

After the link was severed and the girl's system restored to function on its own, Patterson said, the bilirubin level in her blood fell almost to normal, which he said indicated a properly functioning liver.

However, he said chances "are overwhelmingly against" the child's recovery.

Similar operations, using baboons rather than chimps, have been performed at the Medical College of Virginia and by Dr. Christian Barnard, the pioneer heart transplant specialist.

Patterson said all these cases were different and could not reasonably be lumped, but that the patients involved in the Virginia operations died, and Dr. Barnard's patient, a 29-year-old woman, recovered.

Patterson said that to the best of his knowledge, his operation was the first of its kind to utilize a chimpanzee.

No Viewing with Alarm

Russia Warned Against Thrust

BRUSSELS (AP)—The United States gave notice Friday that it believes any Soviet attack on Austria or independent Communist Yugoslavia would menace the whole 15-country North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Informants said NATO leaders here were drafting a declaration that any new Communist thrust in Europe would meet something stronger than the Western viewing with alarm that followed the Warsaw pact invasion of Czechoslovakia Aug. 20.

CONTINGENCY PLANS

NATO strategists are working on contingency plans for defending certain countries considered candidates for possible Soviet attack, highly-qualified sources said. Such countries include Austria—not a NATO member—the maverick Communist nations of Yugoslavia, Albania and Romania, they said.

One top informant said NATO would go to the aid of a victim of Soviet attack only if it received a request for help.

REMOTE PROSPECT

Others added that the prospect of going to the aid of a Warsaw pact member such as Romania or Albania, no matter how negligible its involvement in the Communist organization, was remote.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk was quoted as telling NATO foreign ministers that a Soviet thrust into Romania would spark an even greater crisis for Europe than the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

NOT RECALLED

Accounts of Rusk's speech were made known to correspondents by conference officials. The secretary's aides broadly confirmed what they called the passing references he made to Austria and Yugoslavia. They neither confirmed nor denied his remarks on Romania, explaining Rusk himself could not remember alluding to that independent-minded Communist country.

The NATO council of foreign ministers, beginning a two-day survey of world affairs and especially of European matters, was debating the implications of the Czechoslovak incident.

Chain of Warning Shy Many Links

LONDON (UPI)—The NATO plan to warn key men in case of an emergency broke down into "something of a fiasco" when the Soviet bloc invaded Czechoslovakia, a British official said Friday.

"I am told that when SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers Europe) set out to pass the order down its various chains of command, it found that key men in key places either were not on post, had been moved, had failed to notify their subordinates of changes in their situation, were on holiday or perhaps having a night off," Lord Wigg said.

Wigg, who directs Britain's civil service, told an army reserve regiment dinner that although something of a state of alert was achieved "it is said to have been late, spotty and much less than fully effective."

Wigg said NATO officials had decided some new form of alert system would have to be quickly evolved.

Liberal Berates Canada's NATO Decision

Canada resentful over NATO pressure. (CP 5.)

BRUSSELS (CP) — The Canadian government's unbridled reaction to the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia appeared Friday to have satisfied NATO colleagues, but not all members of Canada's own group at the NATO session in this Belgian capital.

While there appeared no disposition among partner countries to quibble at the Canadian decision to defer a reduction in the air division in West Germany, Liberal Senator Dan Laing of Toronto termed it "a weak response" to the Soviet-led move.

"I am disappointed," said Laing, member of a parliamentary group who earlier in the week had accused the Trudeau administration of equivocation to the point where Canada was being discredited among allies for under-reacting to the situation created by the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"Short-term commitments will be weak commitments,"
